CHATTY LETTER ABOUT LONDON

Tells of Chaperones and Bobs and Sandwiches and Mrs. Brown at Henley

LONDON, Eng., June 23—(By Canadian Press)—For some reason which nobody can quite explain the chaperone has made a distinct reappearance in London this season. Of course, she is not a bit like the chaperone of 15 years ago who, in dove-grey and velvet neckbands used to sit like a cameo on the edge of a ballroom, for today they are as jazz mad as any of the young people they bring. But they are chaperones all the same.

Quite a number of young American debutantes have "adopted" a London chaperone when their mothers have not been able to come to Europe with them, and impoverished duchesses and needy countesses are thinking it well worth while to take an attractive young girl to the opera with them for the sake of a few thousand dollars. Introductions, of course, to a few well worth knowing and a visit or two to the smartest country house parties are thrown in with the arrangement.

The chaperone is really a quaint reaction and survival of the intense freedom of the last two or three years, so it is said. To take a chaperone to a dance is becoming as "smart" as it was to take a fantastic doll under the arm twelve months ago. Even in great public ballrooms there are signs of the chaperone, but oh, not in dove-grey now. Her skirt will probably just reach her knees and if her charge asked her to sit out a dance she would probably be told not to be lazy.

Mrs. Brown at Henley

Mrs. Harry Brown's houseboat, "Nirvana," will be about the only floating house of any size when Henley Regatta opens on July 1. King George and his consort, who do not usually go to Henley, have decided to do so this year, and Princess Mary who has taken a house near Newmarket, will visit the regatta every day with her husband Viscount Lascelles.

Mrs. Brown, who of course, is now safely and splendidly installed at Spencer House, rents the "Nirvana" for the four days regatta at some fabulous rental and entertains about 20 guests on board. The "Nirvana" is a dream of houseboats and every little cabin has its telephone and bathroom. It even has a small ballroom with a spring floor, and is equipped with a large radio set so that her guests can dance to the music of the big orchestras.

Bobs at Court

To set a long controversy at an end it may now be announced that bobs, bingles and shingles were brazenly shown at this week's Courts. And there was one Eton crop on the head of a young London girl. Strange to say the Royal smiles did not lessen when the Eton Cropper came before the Thrones, and there was even the suspicion of a twinkle in King George's eyes.

Sandwiches in Theatre

For the first time in the history of Grand Opera at Convent Garden, — the season opened brilliantly this week—sandwiches were eaten unashamedly in the Boxes during the long performance of 'Der Roseenkavalier' on the first night. It was said that some of the sandwiches were done up in crested paper and stamped with ducal arms but there is no verification for this. The importance of the sandwich will be realized when it is said that the performance started at a quarter to seven and there was no interval to speak of until nearly midnight.

Prince Henry, the only one of the Royal Family to brave the demands of long German Opera, found the calls of hunger strangely acute about half past eight, dashed across the Strand with his equerry and ate a quick dinner in twenty five minutes and was back in his box in half an hour.

Make More History

Great sensation in London this week. It was found that the statue of George III. in Cockspur Street, is in a dangerous state.

There has been a procession of visitors to see it, though to outward appearances the third George looks as comfortable and satisfied as for the last 100 years.

The policemen on duty nearby, however, have been very careful to see that the sympathetic American visitors do not get too near the statue, for if George III. fell down on one of them,—well, there would be a lot to say.

NATIVES JOIN UNITED CHURCH

Two Hundred Gathered at Port Essington and Pledged Loyalty to New Organization

PORT ESSINGTON, June 23.—About two hundred natives from various canneries attended services in Port Essington United Church on Sunday. All agreed to pledge their support to the new church. The record books of the churches from the first days of Dr. Crosby were presented and dedicated to the new church, signifying that the past history was being carried into the new organization, the name only being changed.

Many old time natives spoke of the days when they gathered together to fight and carry off captives and slaves. Christianity had changed their lives. Men of various tribes now worked together harmoniously and worshipped in a united church.

Dr. Crosby came to Fort Simpson fifty-one years ago, while Rev. W. H. Pierce landed at Port Essington forty-nine years ago as missionary teacher. The late Robt. Cunningham and his family came the same year and started a store, sawmill and cannery. Many natives hearing of Mr. Cunningham's enterprises moved from Kitselas and Kitsumkalum and formed the settlement now known as Port Essington. Christianity spread from this settlement as the natives came down to work in the summer and then returned home for the winter testifying to the power of their new life.

A most impressive part of the service was the singing of "He Lifted Me" by a chosen singer of the native race. The older people who had known of the early heathen days said this was the best way to express the work of the church.

REMIT $200 TO AGENTS

Women to Get Back Part of Penalty Imposed Against Them in Police Court

After some discussion, the city council decided last night to remit $200 to a group of young ladies who were recently brought into police court at the instance of the Retail Merchants' Association and ordered to pay $250—the equivalent to license fees for each for conducting a book canvass in the city. The matter was brought up in a letter from Williams, Manson & Gonzales on behalf of the women in question. The letter expressed the opinion that it was not the spirit of the bylaw to assess $50 each in such a case as this when all the canvassers were working for the same concern.

Ald. Stephens was opposed to any remission. To do this would be to discriminate against local merchants in favor of peddlers. He was also opposed to the council reversing a decision of the police magistrate.

Ald. Casey felt that one license of $50 might fairly cover this group of women just as one license of $50 would cover a storekeeper in the city with a staff of clerks. He moved that $200 be remitted. This was seconded by Ald. Larsen and carried, Ald. Stephens and Ald. Perry voting against.

McLEOD PLANK ROAD REPAIR CONTRACT IS CANCELLED BY CITY

The city council, on recommendation of the Board of Works, decided last night to cancel its plank road repair contract with M. R. McLeod and employ Mr. McLeod as a foreman at 57½c per hour.

When the recommendation was presented, Ald. Stephens asked for some explanation of it. When the contract had first been made with Mr. McLeod his estimate was much lower than the city engineer's.

Ald. Perry, in reply, stated that the extent of the plank road repair work was now greatly reduced and the city had equipment at hand to proceed with the work which could be done by three men. The recommendation had been brought in as it was deemed that a change would be economical.

After some further discussion, it was decided to adopt the recommendation, Ald. Stephens and Ald. Smith dissenting.

MOST OLD FOLKS REQUIRE A HEART AND NERVE TONIC

After middle age little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly as the heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves are not as steady as they were in the younger days.

Now is the time when all aged people who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitestone, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, and fainting spells. I was advised, by a friend, to try Milburn's H. & N. Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since. I am 80 years of age and I always keep them in the house, and feel that with their help I will see many years yet. I always recommend them to anyone who is suffering from heart trouble."
