WARNING GIVEN BY GAME DEPARTMENT

Depletion of Fur-Bearing Animals Will Lead to Further Close Season

The provincial game department of Victoria has issued a warning to trappers that it will look upon with disfavor any unusual depletion of fur-bearing animals on trap lines. No more than the natural increase should at any time be taken. Unless trappers conserve the fur-bearing animals on their trap lines a further close season will be put in force.

Complaints have been reaching the provincial game warden's office of interference with trap lines by other than licensed trappers. Springing traps means that prosecutions will follow complaints.

A: "But surely you would not marry this woman just because of her money, would you?"

Z: "Well, how else could I get it?"

PUBLICITY FOR PRINCE RUPERT

VARIOUS PUBLICATIONS IN CANADA AND UNITED STATES REFER TO PORT

Prince Rupert is receiving some wholesome advertising in various publications throughout Canada and the United States. In the March number of the Municipal Review of Canada appears a full page cut of Prince Rupert city and harbor, the picture having been taken from the air. In describing the picture the "Review" says: "The city of Prince Rupert, in the far north of British Columbia, is only sixteen years old, but already it is making vast strides and promises great things in the near future. It is the centre of an immense fishing industry, and has the largest fish and cold storage plant in the world."

Another publication containing a cut and descriptive article of the city is the "Northwestern Miller" published in Minneapolis. It refers to the city as one of the western oultets for Canadian grain.

A tourist party from Virginia, which will make Prince Rupert one of its ports of call this summer, has issued an attractive folder describing the proposed trip. The folder also contains a picture of Prince Rupert with a description of the city.

All of these cuts have been furnished to the various publications by A. Brooksbank, secretary of the local board of trade.
