PREMIER TELLS ALBERTA CLUB ABOUT ENGLAND

Brownlee Also Urges Edmonton Organization to Help in Proper Development of Canada

Hon. J. E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, addressing the Women's Canadian Club of Edmonton, talked about condition in England and urged co-operation with a view to improvements in Canada.

The British Empire, Mr. Brownlee said, is in a healthy condition. He saw no evidence of war except the war memorials; no evidence of unemployment; no business depression. He advised his hearers not to take the question of unemployment in Great Britain too seriously. The Old Land has always had its unemployment problem. Before the war in normal times 800,000 persons were in receipt of charity to enable them to live. Now they have the dole which did not exist before or during the war and, even with that, the increase in people receiving assistance is only half a million. Business in England is improved, and England is showing the same resilent spirit and standing up manfully to the task, as she did before the war. The great purpose of Premier Baldwin's visit to Canada was to assure the people that all was well in the Old Land, and Premier Brownlee found it so.

SPEECH IS FREE

Freedom of speech is taken for granted in Great Britain. In Hyde Park, Mr. Brownlee said, he had found representatives of all schools of thought advocating measures according to their views. It things were expressed in Canada as heard in England, we would call out the militia. But the English people, merely listen carefully, solemnly and with good sense. They do not allow themselves to become excited or carried away. This unprejudiced attitude, Mr. Brownlee considered, would be a great factor in carrying Great Britain through the great change which will bring about a new democracy. France attained her goal through struggle and bloodshed, but the change in Great Britain will be brought about calmly, a bloodless war, through the good thought and sense of the people. These were some of the observations which had brought Mr. Brownlee back to Canada a better member of the British Empire, a stronger exponent of a united empire.

THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

Turning his eyes homeward the premier pointed out that in Canada the door of opportunity stands wide open and if people take advantage of this opportunity and face the next five years with a progressive spirit, no one can begin to imagine what the development may be. Canada offers greater opportunity in every field than any other country in the world. Breat Britain is burdened with taxation but, with the execption of the United States, Canada has the lowest taxation of any country in the world. Canada has also the feeling of prosperity without hampering things. She has not, for instance, the problems between labor and capital that exist in Great Britain and the United States.

BASED ON AGRICULTURE

But the prosperity of Canada is based on her agricultural development. Premier Brownlee spoke of the farming conditions, and the uncertainty of farming. For weeks past the "music of the harvest" has been heard throughout the land, but not without hard gripping toil can the farmer see his work come to fruition. Elevator and granary connot be filled until nature takes its toll in sweat anl toil. However, time has eased the situation to a certain extent. Machinery is taking away the drudgery on the land and in the farm home; the development of highways has brought people within reach of city advantages; the coming of the telephone, radio and motor car, and the establishment of better high and public school systems, leaves the farming industry one of the most pleasant in the world. Yet, in spite of this, people are flocking from the farms to the cities, and from both farms and cities to the United States. This is one of Canada's great problems. Mr. Brownlee expressed the opinion that the movement will never be stopped until farming is placed on the same basis as other businesses. Make agriculture prosperous in Canada and everything else will take care of itself. It is not right to expect the farmer to work on any other basis than that of the business man. He has a right to proper remuneration for his work, interest on his investment, etc.

FIELD OF PATRIOT

Three great currents are passing through the life of Canada and the empire, and no man can be a true patriot who does not face these currents squarely and try to keep them sweet, continued Mr. Brownlee. These currents and immigration, trade and commerce and investment. In dealing with immigration, Canada must keep British thought, language traditions and ideals dominant. At present our trade and commerce is largely carried on with the United States. It is necessary that Canada build up a strong empire trade relationship.

There should also be a greater effort to develop Canadian resources from within the empire. At present, at least 75 per cent of the money invested in field is United States money. The United States dominates the Canadian pulpwood and oil resources. If this continues it is bound to have a far-reaching effect. Sentiment cannot always withstand economic pressure.

CO-OPERATION TO HELP

Some of the great changes in Canada are going to be brought about by co-operative effort. The future will see great cooperative organizations among producers and consumers working for the common good. Extension of national effort will also be involved in the changes, and greater effort of the individual to link together in greater strength, in order to extend effort in the industrial field.

WOULD BEAUTIFY CANADA

In conclusion Mr. Brownlee emphasized the necessity of immediately adopting an aggressive policy in regard to the beautification of Canada. He had found, he said, that one of the gripping things that keep men true to the soil and the country, are the beauty spots. In this young country of great spaces no time should be lost in acquiring spaces for the creation of playgrounds and breathing spaces such as the parks of London afford. Tree planting along the highways was also urged.

He urged the Women's Canadian Club to get behind this movement in full strength.

CRICKET TAUGHT THE ENGLISHMAN TO PLAY THE GAME OF LIFE

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Lord Desborough, speaking as the guest of the Lord Mayor of London at the Mansion House, said: "Cricket has taught is to play the game, and so long as we do play it England will maintain her position."

The reply to the toast of "Cricket" was entrusted, most appropriately, to Lord Harris, who recalled that some of Sir Rowland Blade's predecessors had not ignored athletics. Sir Sydney Waterlow, for instance, had entertained the Oxford and Cambridge crews. In 1880, a Lord Mayor entertained the Australian eleven of that year. On a more recent occasion a team of cricketers which was to visit South Africa was entertained. This, however, was the first occasion on which honor had been done to the game itself.

Recurring to these recollections, Lord Ullswater, in proposing the health of the host, said he could remember when Sir Robert Fowler, who was a great hunting man, entertained a number of masters of foxhounds, and others interested in hunting. In the middle of the banquet the news arrived of an import division in the House of Commons. Those of the guests who happened to be member of parliament hurried off to the House of Commons. He himself happened to be in the chair, and nearly had a fit when he say Mr. Muntz walking down the House in a scarlet coat. Fortunately, the House was not now sitting—it not being the cricket season—or they might have seen Sir Rowland Blades appearing in the House in an M.C.C. blazer and white trousers.

SKATING WAS GOOD YESTERDAY ON LAKE ALONG NEW HIGHWAY

There was a good crowd out yesterday and Saturday to enjoy the skating on the lake on the New Highway. The weather was splendid and the ice like glass. The city taxis were kept busy all afternoon taking out parties and bringing them home.

A few of the boys took out their sticks and tried a game of shinty. Small fires were built to keep those warm who were watching the fun, many spectators making the trip as well as skaters.

Cliff Bricker of Galt and Howard Webster, of Hamilton, have been definitely assured of places as members of the Canadian Olympic team, competing in the Olympic marathon at Amsterdam next year. Two of the following may also be selected: Billy Reynolds of Galt, Percy Wyer of Toronto, Johnny Cuthbert of Guelph, Johnny Miles of Sydney, N.S., and Orville Garbutt of Toronto. This decision was reached following the marathon trial of 26 miles 385 yards, at Hamilton, which Bricker won handily, despite the terrific heat, in 2 hours, 51 minutes and 46 seconds, leading Webster by nearly 7 minutes.

Conditions were very similar to what will be expected in Amsterdam next July—hot and oppressive, and hard pavements. Bricker keeps in condition chiefly by walking, with his Airedale dog as company, and jaunts his thirty miles one day each week. Johnny Miles, the Maritime sensation, who months ago was touted as a sure thing for the Olympics, finished ninth, but confidently expects to show sufficient class next spring to be selected as one of the additional pair of marathoners possibly named to accompany Bricker and Webster.
