DAILY EDITION. Tuesday, March 8, 1927

THIS VERSATILE MONTH OF MARCH.

All of the evidence considered, it is agreed that the month of March is the dissenting member, the erratic revolutionary, the most fickle of the fickle and the most irresponsible of the undependable among the 12 major divisions of the calendar year. It is born of both winter and spring by virtue of the calendar and weather tradition. It is nature's sample case. There are weather reasons for the existence of the "crazy March hare" and the prophetic association of March with the lion and the lamb.

Throughout the major portion of Canada the month of March is welcomed because it marks the death of winter and the birth of spring. Among the time honored days of the year none is quite so well-met and joyfully received, as March 21, the first day of spring. Some times the first day of spring does not live up to its calendar designation and harsh winds or deadening snows strive for supremacy over the urge of spring, but to no avail.

FANCY NAME DOESN'T MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE.

A New York physician has created or resurrected a scientific name for a very old disease. It is "ergophobia," a combination of two Greek words meaning, "work" and "fear," and is used to describe a psychological ill which creates a feeling of panic in the presence of work.

The ergophobiac, it appears, is not physically unfitted for manual labor but, like the person who has a deadly fear of standing on heights or being trapped in closets or walking through cemeteries at night, he is prey to a curious "dread of unknown shadowy ills that may befall him if he works.

Fastening a fancy name on laziness will probably have no marked effect on the public's attitude toward the hobo. "Bum" is a shorter, more expressive and more memorable description than ergophobiac. The rest of the world, which has its own periods of unenthusiasm over work, will still be inclined to attribute any permanent condition of that sort to what is known, however inaccurately, as shiftlessness. It will require more than a Greek name to uproot the idea that laziness is voluntary and as far as fear is concerned it will take time to wipe out the force of the old saying, "He isn't afraid of work—why, he can lie down beside it any day and go sound asleep."

TODAY AS GOOD AS YESTERDAY.

Tomorrow is usually a little further off than yesterday. Both, however, have a perspective which in some way show them up in nearly their true relation and in other ways distorts the view and makes them appear in strange ways. Yesterday was just a little while since, today and tomorrow will soon be just one of the present days.

There are dreamers who are continually looking for the better day, for the time when men and women will become almost perfect. They forever talk about the "good old days" and deplore modern conditions and morals. They never tire of comparison particularly of the modern girl with the girl of their youth and always to the disadvantage of the girl of today. So obsessed have they become with the idea that the trend of morals and manners are on the downward track that acts of slightest indiscretion become degrading and the failure of extreme courtliness shows a decadence in manners.

Yesterday was not a whit better than the today in which we live and the morals of the youth today are the equal of those in the "good old days." Manners of today are better, there may be less gesticulation but there is more gentleness and unselfishness than was the case yesterday. Prudishness and snobbery are at a minimum and the advancement in these two phases of politeness alone more than recompense for what may have been lost in the manners of other days.

If you will back up those who continually hark on conditions today and forever praise those of other days, in a corner and let him recall specifically the customs and manners of the old days, it will be easy to convince him that conditions today are as good as a quarter of a century ago.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH CLERK DISCLAIMED ANY KNOWLEDGE OF EDMONTON

EDMONTON, March 8. — Many examples have previously been cited of the ignorance of certain people in the United States concerning Canada. It would be a difficult matter, however, to discover a more outstanding instance of this total lack of knowledge of the dominion and its cities than is noted in the following true story by Fred Williams, of 185 Cowan Avenue, Toronto, sent to the editor of the Edmonton Journal:

"My daughter, just departing from the Grand Central depot, New York, for home," he writes, "went to the Western Union Telegraph office to file a message to her husband, who was at the Macdonald hotel in Edmonton. The girl clerk looked at the message, which was of ocurse, addressed 'Edmonton, Alberta,' and said:

"'What are you giving me? This is wrongly addressed. There ain't no, Edmonton, Alberta, because Alberta is a town. There are only two provinces in Canada, Ontario and Quebec.'

KNOW EVERYTHING

"'What are you giving me?' replied the young Canadian. 'You New Yorkers make me tired. You think you know everything and you don't know anything. Why, Alberta is a province large enough to take in all your eastern states and then have room left for a few more. Look up your Gazetter, and be sharp about it. My train for Toronto won't wait.'

"The clerk insisted there was no place in Canada called Edmonton. My daughter appealed to a man near by, apparently some one in authority, and he endorsed what the girl had said, whereupon my daughter left in a hurry—she had to catch her train—and as she left she hurled back at the couple:

"'Of all the dumbells that God ever made you New Yorkers take the cake. You know nothing outside your own town and you don't want to.'"

REAL EMERGENCY IN R.C.M.P. WORK

COMMISSIONER STARNES APPEALS TO GOVERNMENT FOR MORE MEN

OTTAWA, March 8. — Commissioner Starnes of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in his annual report to the minister of justice draws attention to the reduced strength of the force and a marked increase in the number of cases dealt with. The strength in 1926 was 876, and 28,000 cases were handled, while in 1920, the strength was 1,500 and 10,000 cases were disposed of.

Speaking of the Arctic work, the commissioner referred to "the urgent need" for a new post in Baffin Island, and "I am under pressure to establish several additional detachments for the aboriginal inhabitants." As the result of the "northward drift which is in progress" the number of men in the far north has been nearly trebled.

The commissioner states that a real emergency has arisen in the appeal to his force by the customs department for police officers. He points out that more than $72,000 was collected by the force in revenues for various government departments.

INTERESTING SERMON AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. W. F. Price is Conducting Series of Discourses on "Foundation Truths of Christianity"

Notwithstanding the storm Sunday evening, the Baptist Church was well attended to hear the opening address of a series on "Foundation Truths of Christianity," presented by the Pastor Rev. W. F. Price. "Is There a God?" was the theme for Sunday's discourse and the speaker showed that he possessed a thorough grasp of this apparent difficult subject. The audnence was held in rapt attention throughout as the speaker ably argued his case from many different angles.

The series will be continued next Sunday evening when the argument will centre around the Bible—"Is the Bible the Word of God?" People who think for themselves are often perplexed by these questions and will find much satisfaction in hearing such matters freely discussed from the pulpit.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO ARRANGE FOR GOVERNOR'S RECEPTION

The matter of providing fitting entertainment for Viscount Willingdon and party, when they visit Prince Rupert on April 16 and 17, was brought to the attention of the council last night by Mayor Newton.

After an informal discussion, Mayor Newton, Alderman Linzey and Ald. Tinker were appointed a committee to seek the co-operation of other bodies in the city and make the arrangements.

The Governor General and party will arrive in Prince Rupert at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 16 and will leave for the south by boat on Sunday at 5 p.m. The committee will advise later on the program and the nature of the city's welcome.

LEGISLATURE IS BURLESQUE

CY PECK DOES NOT SAY WHOSE FAULT IT IS, HOWEVER

VICTORIA, March 8.—During supply in the Legislature Col. Cyrus Peck (the Islands) offered the suggestion to the House that its decorum was deteriorating.

After Col. Peck had closed his remarks with a recommendation for a select committee in this regard, the attorney general tacitly supporting his stand, announced that the government will take the entire question under consideration without delay and have new rules ready to present when parliament next assembles.

"As to the decorum of the House, it is a travesty upon the proper and dignified procedure of a deliberative body. It degenerates into burlesque. One can liken it only to a bear garden.

"For instance, the habit we have developed of addressing honorable members opposite across the floor, as "you did this or that...." "You said that....." Could anything be more crude and ill-mannered?

"I don't mean that we should sit here like a burial party. We must have some wit as repartee and decent fun. It would be a dull, unbearable house if we did not have a little laughter and ridicule occasionally.

GREAT FALLACY

"There is a great fallacy in evidence nowadays that in order to be democratic one must act the roughneck. The world respects a man who respects himself, and if we want to be respected by the public of British Columbia we must mend our ways and remodel our procedure so as to merit respect."

Attorney General Manson promised to obtain a copy of the report of the committee now revising the rules of the Canadian parliament.

CITY TO SUPPLY CRUSHED ROCK FOR COW BAY ROAD USE

The city council last night adopted a report of the board of works that the city supply and deliver to the provincial government 600 cubic yards of crushed rock at a cost of $3.00 per yard.

Alderman Larsen explained that the rock was to be used on the road at Cow Bay, which the city had received complaints about and the provincial government engineer had approached the board of works with regard to supplying the crushed rock. The city engineer had investigated the cost to the city and had set the price at $3.00 which he considered to be a fair price.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

At the same time Vicks acts as a counter-irritant, stimulating the skin, and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the inflammation.

Colds are usually relieved over night.
