RED INFLUENCE STRONG IN CHINA.

The Red influence in China is perhaps stronger and more fraught with possibilities than the average person would observe. There is indeed the soil of unrest there and it may be that the Soviet is casting its seed on ground that, for its own purposes, may prove fertile. The situation in China today has at least a few things in common with the situation in Russia some nine years ago when the great upheaval came there. China is war-ridden today, only in a different way than Russia was then, and the Chinese are awakening now just as the Russians did yesteryear.

While the rest of the world stands by watching two contending factions struggle for supremacy in China, there would seem to be a very strong possibility that they may have a rude awakening to find another Bolshevik force in power. It would be no more amazing than was the Red uprising and victory in Rusia. The Bolshevists have similar material to work upon today.

The situation across the Pacific is deeply involved and events of the immediate future there promise to be even more important than they have been during the past two months.

COMMUTATION OF NEGRO'S SENTENCE.

The commutation of the sentence on the Chatham negro who gravely assaulted an aged woman from death to imprisonment and lashes may not be received with favor by many people in Canada. Offences of such a kind as McCatherine was found guilty of are becoming altogether too common on the North American continent. It would seem that the time has arrived when it is necessary to make an example. Such brutes as McCatherine, the country would be well rid of. Apart from that, however, there would be the even more important salutary effect on others of his ilk of whom, unfortunately, there seem to be very many in the land today. If there is one offence worse than murder and deserving of more drastic punishment, it would seem to the right thinking mind to be that of the violation of feminine chastity by such degenerate scoundrels as this.

INFLUENCE OF THE MOVIES.

The movies have been blamed for many things from crime waves to social unrest. Whether they are guilty of any or all of these charges remains to be proven by the movie fans, rather than by persons in censorship jobs or those few who have never seen a moving picture. But that great majority of people who are prejudiced in favor of the movies proclaim that the movies have wrought much common good which needs no proof.

The moving picture is given credit for the cultivation of feminine charms. It is explained that the beautiful clothes, teeth, complexions and coiffures seen on the screen have inspired every maiden and matron to emulation.

It is no secret that the average person of today has a better appreciation of beautiful homes and furniture than even fifteen years ago. No doubt the moving pictures have contributed in this artistic education of the nation. What else has provided the necessary example?

The object of the moving picture producer is to please the public. If he did not believe the average movie-goer desires beautiful settings he would not go to the tremendous expense of supplying them. It is inconceivable that the public has not developed a love and appreciation for the many beautiful and artistic things exhibited daily in every moving picture theatre in the country.

BRADY TANGLES WITH MINISTER

LOCAL MEMBER GOT A FEW WORDS IN AT OTTAWA ON OLD AGE PENSIONS DEBATE

The member of parliament for Skeena, J. C. Brady, got in a few words on the old age pensions debate at Ottawa recently. He brought up the question of whether a fisherman's boat might be regarded as his "dwelling house" under the Act and, in that connection, had a little passage with Hon. Lucien Cannon, solicitor general.

The following is taken from Hansard:

Mr. Brady: I would like to ask the solicitor general what is the connotation of the phrase "dwelling house?" In British Columbia many of the fishermen who possess land live habitually in a boat. That is their home. Would "dwelling house" include such a place?

Mr. Cannon: I do not think there is any doubt that the words "dwelling house" would include that.

Mr. Brady: The dictionary definition does not cover it.

Mr. Cannon: Again that would be a question for the pension authority to decide, but notwithstanding the findings of my hon. friend in the dictionary which he consulted, I have no doubt that any person who would represent to the pension authority that his dwelling place was a boat would not be forced by the pension authority, notwithstanding any dictionary, to live anywhere else. It would be considered as the pensioner's regular dwelling place. I had a somewhat similar case in our city of Quebec, where it was decided that if a person lived habitually in a boat which was moored to a wharf within a certain constituency, he was entitled to vote as being a dweller in the constituency.

ULTERIOR MOTIVE

Mr. Brady: I regret exceedingly, Mr. Chairman, that the solicitor general should consider that every question asked has an ulterior motive. I had no intention of prolonging the discussion or objecting to the passing of this clause. I asked my question simply for elucidation.

Mr. Cannon: I may say to my hon. friend that I did not impute to his remarks any ulterior motive. His suggestion may be due to the instance which I quoted, but only when my hon. friend gave it that interpretation did it occur to me that he might have got that impression. I just quoted the instance as an experience I had had in my profession as a lawyer, and my hon. friend may rest assured that when he has known me a little longer he will realize that I do not impute motives to anybody.

TO WAGE WAR ON SEA LIONS

HUNTERS WILL BE COMING NORTH AGAIN TO EXTERMINATE COLONIES

VICTORIA, March 15.—Warfare on the sea lion herds of the coast will soon be resumed. Last year more than two thousand lions were killed during a twenty-two day campaign and it is estimated that their slaughter saved many hundreds of thousands of salmon on their way to the rivers where they spawn.

But, in spite of these losses, the sea lion colonies are still a menace to the fisheries of the province and attacking parties will be organized again this year to carry on the warfare with gun and club.

Every spring Captain A. M. Henderson of the Dominion government fisheries services sets out for Pearl and Virgin rocks, opposite Smiths and Rivers Inlet, where the sea lions are to be found in vast numbers. Each year around two thousand of these gluttonous, ungainly creatures, in many ways resembling the seal, are killed. It is estimated that an active sea lion, if left to his own devices, will take a toll of thirty to fifty pounds of salmon every day the run is on.

Machine guns have been found particularly effective in assaults on the sea lion rookeries. Snipers pick off others after the first alarm has been sounded. Big bulls, weighing sometimes as much as 2,000 pounds, plunge ahead of the pack, bellowing as they go.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

FEBRUARY 15, 1917.

John Nelson of this city is in charge of construction work on a new cannery at Rivers Inlet for R. G. Johnston.

Ten years ago yesterday W. H. Vickers, chief of the city police, stepped ashore in Prince Rupert.

Residents of the city were much interested in watching a whale at play yesterday in the harbor.

Thirteen refrigerator cars are expected in the city tonight. They will relieve the present shortage considerably.

E. J. Conway of Granby Bay is a visitor in the city.

Mrs. Besner, Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Evans are in charge of the Red Cross Sale this week.

RECORD CAKE AT ALERT BAY MADE

WAS LARGE ENOUGH TO PROVIDE GENEROUS SLICES FOR 500 NATIVES

THEREBY HANGS A TALE

ALERT BAY, March 15.—What is undoubtedly British Columbia's record wedding cake has been manufactured by two local confectioners for a recent Indian wedding.

The cake was made for the wedding of Beatrice Noel, daughter of Owa-tee-at-Keegillikum, chief of the Nimpkish Indians, and was large enough to provide generous slices for 500 guests. Princess Beatrice was married to a young chief of a nearby tribe.

Surmounting the immense iced and filigreed creation was a model of that shrewd old sage of Nimpkish legend, Quin-quin-gil-lee-gee, the Thunderbird crest of the Keegillikums.

The Thunderbird, according to the Indian legend, watched from a distant hillside when the first man toiled in vain to build a house on the Nimpkish river shore. Much impressed by the show of industry, Thunderbird assumed his human form, helped to complete the house and then flew off to select a wife for the worthy and ambitious builder.

Symbols of the legendary invariably play an important part in tribal weddings and the fashioning of his image taxed the ingenuity of the confectioners.

KING AND QUEEN WILL SPEND EASTER TIME AT WINDSOR CASTLE

LONDON, March 15. — (Canadian Press).—The King and Queen will spend the Easter vacation this year again at Windsor Castle. They are due to arrive there during the first week in April for a stay that is expected to extend over a month—rather longer than usual.

While their Majesties are at the Castle there will be a very impressive ceremony in St. George's Chapel, the magnificent home of the Knights of the Garter, where the restoration work that has been going forward for the past six years or so is now rapidly approaching completion. It is proposed to hold a special service for the Knights of the Order, if possible on Easter Sunday, to commemorate the reopening.

The gathering is expected to comprise almost every one of the 26 British Knights of the Order while it is hoped that some of the foreign Sovereigns who also wear the premier decoration may find it convenient to be present. Among these are the Kings of Spain, the Belgians, Sweden and Norway.

It is expected that the Prince of Wales will postpone his proposed Easter visit to Biarritz until after this ceremony has taken place.

Had Salt Rheum All Over Her Hands

Mrs. Herbert J. Mason, Grand Falls, N.B., writes:—"I had salt rheum all over my hands and especially between my fingers. It got so bad it was impossible for me to put them in water or do my housework. After trying many medicines and salves, that did me no good, I heard of
