SEATTLE YACHT VISITING PORT

MAIDIE PARTICIPATED IN RECENT CAPITAL-TO-CAPITAL RACE BUT WAS TOWED MOST OF WAY NORTH

The tidy 42-foot Seattle power yacht Maidie, having on board her owner, J. Power, and his party, arrived in port last evening from the north and is tied up at the floats of the Prince Rupert Yacht and Rowing Club. The Maidie, which will proceed south this afternoon in the course of a leisurely cruise home, started in the recent Olympia to Juneau yacht race but here reduction gear broke down when not far out and the vessel was towed 400 miles to Ketchikan by the revenue cutter Snohomish. Though disqualified, the Maidie continued the trip to Juneau and reached the Alaskan capital in time for the Fourth of July celebration. The vessel is equipped with a 25 h.p. Fordson motor.

Another one of the vessels which participated in the Capital-to-Capital race is reported to be coming in here today southbound.

Man in the Moon

Tomorrow's election day
And I hear the people say
To the polls I will go
To support Pattullo
No matter who stands in the way.

A meteorite fell in Washington state, the Okopogo was seen in Lake Oganagan and tomorrow is election day.

Jake says he bet Prince Rupert will go and elect a man in opposition to the Government and again get it in the neck like she usually does.

The U. S. prohibition law is broken so they plan to get rid of it. The ten commandments are also broken just as often but it seems more difficult to get rid of them.

ITALIAN DIES

CAVOUR, Italy, July 17.—Former Premier Viovanni Giolitti died early this morning aged 85.

Miss Audrey Dickinson, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. John V. Clyne, Fifth Avenue West, sailed yesterday afternoon by the Prince George on her return to Vancouver.

D. D. Munro of Vancouver, potentate of Gizeh Shrine Temple, and Charles Welch of New Westminster, past potentate, will arrive in the city from the south on Friday morning and return south the next evening. On account of their visit, the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Shrine Club, which would regularly have been held last night, is postponed until Friday evening when Mr. Munro and Mr. Welch will be speakers.

Pattullo has a few incisive things to say tonight, something that might be worth hearing. Westholme Theatre at 8.
