Laundry Washed Clothes Are Not Rubbed

YOU know how you douse your dainty lingerie up and down in a bowl of sudsy water . . that's the way your clothes are washed in a modern laundry. They are not rubbed or scrubbed but are gently swished back and forth in warm filtered rainsoft water until the pure soap actually foams. Every particle of dirt is loosened without unduly lessening the tensile strength of the fabric.. Then come many rinses of rainsoft water so that your laundry washed clothes not only look and feel clean but are scientifically clean.

VENDORS AND ENTERTAINERS LONDON STREET

LITTLE OF ALMOST EVERYTHING PEDDLED AT CURBSTONE MARKET IN METROPOLIS

ENLIVENS THE CITY

BALLAD SINGERS AND STREET POETS ABOUND AND ARTISTS OF A KIND OPERATE

LONDON, April 23.—In London now there are nearly as many folks carying their wares in the gutter and plying their trades in the street, as there were in the days of good Queen Bess; you can hardly walk abroad without seeing such quaint, gay, colorful sights and busy craftsmanship as might belong to the oldtime when half the town's business was done in the streets," says a writer in the Daily News and Westminster Gazette.

"Here is a man with magic flowers unfolding in a glass of water, here a vendor of joss-sticks with a sample smouldering on his tray; there is a nimble fellow with toys that run and jump as nimbly as himself, and there is a man with a pair of tame jackdaws which will perch on your hand for a penny. There is an old man who peddles rock-salt in a child's pram, and a young one who sells country flowers in suburban side streets from an old Ford. If your fancy is for a live lobster, a tortoise or a puppy dog, bitter oranges or branches of eucalyptus silver topped walking sticks or sham dolls that squeak, you will find them all at the curbstone market.

For entertainment you have as much as any citizen of Elizabethan London: the ballad singers, the clowns and the tumblers, still contrive to please the crowd as their forefathers did—though now it is ranged two by two outside the theatre. The street poet still flourishes, chalking his verses on the paving stones of the Embankment, and the basket maker sets out his gaudy wares in Kingsway, making his strip of pavement look like the corner of an Indian bazaar; there is a one-armed girl, who sits on a camp stool, painting pictures, and a sailor who squats cross-legged on the pavement working big ones, very fast, on canvas, with bright colored wools, and knife-grinders and many another besides.

"Despite all the wide streets and brand new concrete of our modern London, her citizens still take their way among workers and chaffers, just as they did when the sweep shouted his trade from the house tops, and 'Cherry-ripe' was cried in the streets."

OBJECTIONS TO ADAM AND EVE

PICTURE REMOVED FROM ART GALLERY AT SOUTHPORT, ENGLAND

LONDON, April 23.—A nude painting of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden has been banned by the Southport Corporation Act Committee, as the results of protests by the public.

The painting, by William Roberts, is one of a collection by the London Artists' Association which was exhibited at the Leicester Galleries in November. This is the first time it has been exhibited outside London.

The exhibition was opened just over a week ago, and no objection appears to have been raised to the picture until a mayor gathering took place.

On that occasion the art gallery, which is an annexe to the municipal buildings, was used as a refreshment buffet.

A good deal of comment was made by the 1,000 guests about the picture, and complaints were made to the act committee.

The picture was then removed to a private room, where it remains.

Members of the committee supported the ban.

Councillor J. Waterhouse said that the picture was sound enough in one way, but not likely to be an advertisement for the town.

"My own views about such things are pretty free," he said, "but considered from the point of view of the good of the town it was wisely removed."

Dr. Lewis, vice-chairman of the committee, said he would not hang the picture in his own home, as it was, in his opinion, neither artistic nor elevating.

Mr. Roberts, who was a student at the Slade School, some years ago held a notable exhibition of his work at the Chenil Callery. In an introduction to the catalogue, Muirhead Bone, the distinguished teacher, said: "He presents his memories of life in a sharp manner, odd, vivid and quite his own, whose foundation is a really sterling draughtsmanship."

That Tired Feeling

TIRED BRAIN—TIRED NERVES —TIRED BODY

MONDAY HEALTH TALK by R. E. EYOLFSON, D.C., Ph.C.

Is it any wonder that digestive organs fail and the heart's action weakens under such strain?

The modern business of life is carried on at tremendous expense to the nervous systems of both men and women.

So great are the worries of life today, that the end of the day finds the brain, the nerves, the body, tired and limp.

The last ounce of nervous energy seems to have been expended. Is it any wonder that internal organs stop functioning properly when the nerve force which controls their action is so completely exhausted?

But with the nerves on edge you are restless and irritable. You cannot sit still and relax. You must be ever on the go. You must have excitement and stimulation until finally worn out, and the inevitable result—a nervous breakdown.

There is a way out of this vicious circle of nerve exhaustion. By taking a course of Chiropractic adjustments you will soon find yourself sleeping and resting better, digestion will improve and you will forget the tired feelings in your enthusiasm for new health and happiness.

As the supply of nerve force in the body is increased your vital organs will resume their natural functions. You will feel the confidence that goes with good health. Your efficiency will improve and you will be able to get the most out of life.

Our years of local experience and a careful preliminary training assures you of the best that the Chiropractic profession has to offer.

Yours for health—

Facts Worth Thinking About

Pacific Milk enjoys a somewhat unique distinction. It is the only evaporated milk on the market that is 100% British Columbian and British Columbia is the only province in Canada that has canned milk produced exclusively from government tested herds. Aside from these features this good milk is exceptionally rich and fine flavored.

BISHOP'S BATH ONLY PRIVACY

HIS LORDSHIP OF ST. ALBAN'S FEARS TELEVISION WILL ROB HIM OF THAT

LONDON, April 23.— —The terrors of television were dwealt upon the other day by the Bishop of St. Albans (Dr. M. B. Furse), the most unconventional prelate of the English bench.

"At present there is one place, and one place only," said Dr. Furse, "where I can secure absolute privacy, and that is in my bath. But I read that this privacy is to be vouchafed to me only for a little time longer.

"I make no secret of the fact that I view with great trepidation the coming of the day when by television my morning ablutions at St. Albans will be reflected on a screen in New York for the entertainment of the American cinema public."

Dr. Furse is more often than not referred to as "Mike" Furse. He became Bishop of St. Albans in 1920 after seventeen years as Bishop of Pretoria. Concerning his appointment by Lloyd George, he told the St. Albans diocese—"I couldn't help it. I was simply thrown at you by a Baptist Prime Minister, and, as far as I am concerned, I have got to sit on your chests for the rest of my natural life. It may be unpleasant for all concerned."

Considering Dr. Furse is six feet four and proportionately heavy, this is obviously true.

In one of his journeys through his present diocese he spoke about receiving letters. "If you have to write them," he said, "for Heaven's sake put stamps on them. Nowadays one has to pay fourpence, and it isn't worth it.

"There is only one thing worse than being 'respectable,' and that is being 'superior.' Figure-heads may have been all right for the old ships, but they are not a bit of good for a church."

PRINCE OF WALES TO OPEN NEW DOCK

Eastern Arm Extension at Bristol Has Cost about $5,000,000

LONDON, April 23.—The Prince of Wales will visit Bristol on May 23 to open the eastern arm extension of the Royal Edward Dock. He will have a civic welcome when he reaches the city at 11 o'clock, and will go to Avonmouth by road. At the Junction Cut, which connects Avonmouth and the Royal Edward Dock, he will join a steamer for the dock extension, and the vessel will cut the ribbon stretched across the entrance. Going on to the far end of the new arm the Prince will land at the wharf where an address of welcome will be presented.

The new dock, which has taken nearly two years to construct, has cost about $5,000,000. The corporation received help for the scheme in Government grants for work for the unemployed. With a water area of 21 acres the new dock space is 1,700 feet long and 400 feet wide. There are six extra deep water berths. It is equipped with the most modern appliances for the rapid handling of cargoes. An additional granary has 20,000 tons capacity.

The teacher was reading an account of the Battle of Bannockburn.

"And when the English saw the new army on the hill behind," he read, "their spirits became damped."

"Now, what is meant by damping their spirits?" he asked one bright lad.

"Pitten' water in their whusky," came the prompt reply.—Ayrshire Post.
