Travelled to Many Jobs

ESTEVAN, Sask (P) — Yvonne Lacoste is back home for a spell after travels that began in a munitions plant at Toronto and ended in a Venezuela town where the natives are chocolate-colered with green eyes and reddish hair.

Yvonne began her travels some years ago when she left with several other girls from this town to work in the munitions plant. After that she got work in a mental hospital at Toronto. Seven months of that was followed by a year's work in a New York factory.

Then she heard of Punto Fijo, the boom town of Venezuela's great seashore oil industry. She went down there and got a position catering to tourists. Her hotel position allowed lots of spare time during which she went sight-seeing, swimming in the Caribbean and collecting oil paintings.

Miss Lacoste said she was amazed at first at the natives and the climate in the Venezuela oil town. "They are beautiful people with the oddest coloring," she said. "They have chocolate-colored skins, green eyes and brown hair with red glints in it."

She liked the climate there too. It goes over 100 degrees in summer and stays in the 80's in winter. But "it isn't uncomfortably hot throughout," she explained. "The breezes are always delightfully cool."

Yvonne shortly is leaving for Miami to discuss plans for a dress shop in Venezuela. But even if the plan works out, she doesn't think she would settle down for long. She has a hankering to see Africa and China.

British Visitors Goodwill Tour

LONDON (CP)—Ambassadors of closer educational ties within the Commonwealth, Brig. E. C. Fepper and Brig. C. Huxley are leaving England shortly on an extended good-will tour of Canada.

The two officials, respectively warden and deputy controller of London House are due to reach Montreal Sept. 5. They plan to visit every major city in the Dominion during their three-month tour.

London House is the centre of Dominion and Colonial student activity in Britain, and the trip is being undertaken chiefly in the interests of its expanding program to meet the growing demands for accommodation for overseas students.

While in Ottawa the visitors will be guests of Governor-General Viscount Alexander, patron-in-chief of the London House Association of Canada. The invitation was extended when the Governor-General paid an informal visit to London House recently.

During his tour of the buildings Viscount Alexander stopped to chat with some of the resident students, including R. C. Stovall of Comox, B.C., and R. Melvin of Vancouver. They were congratulated when the governor-general learned they had worked their way to England on a freighter to complete their studies.

In their coast-to-coast tour the Londoners will confer with officials of the London House Association in Canada, who have been promoting a campaign to provide financial backing for the Commonwealth project. They also plan to meet residents of several Canadian universities, serving as patrons of the association.

HOME FOR CANADIANS

Since London House was opened by Queen Mary in 1937, more than 500 Canadian students have taken up residence there. At present about 40 are registered and nine more, winners of Lord Nuffield scholarships, are expected shortly.

The aim of the foundation has been to provide accommodation within the means of the average student, assist them in making professional contacts and generally give them an insight into the British way of life.

Additional funds, however, are required to defray operating costs. Latest budget figures show that the cost of maintaining a resident has exceeded by nearly $200 the amount charged. The deficit is made up by bequests and donations.

When the building program is completed London House will have accommodation for 300 male students. A separate building is being erected to house 100 women students as well as 24 married couples.

Helicopter Prospecting

Pilot Thomas Scheer was in the country north of Portland Canal with his Queen Charlotte Air Lines Norseman seaplane at the week-end, assisting Helicopter Explorations move its 5-man outfit from Tommy Mackay Lake to Bowser Lake, a distance of sixty miles.

Helicopter Explorations is carrying out a prospecting job by modern means of helicopter transportation for Springer Pacific Mining Services of Vancouver. This is its second year in the field.

Three weeks had been spent at the Tommy Mackay Lake base.

Two weeks will now be spent at Bowser Lake and the outfit will then be moved to the Hazelton district.

Don Cannon is in charge of the party. Vaughan Krug is the helicopter pilot.

Small Packer Sinks at Dock

Having sunk during the night at her moorings alongside the Atlin Fisheries Co. dock here, apparently due to lines having caught on fender piles when the tide rose, the small packer My was later raised by Armour Salvage Co. with the service boat Kaien II and a pump scow. When the My's plight was discovered early this morning, only her bow and mast could be seen above the surface. By 11 o'clock she had been raised. Damage was confined to that caused by the general immersion and it was expected that would be remedied at the scene.

Mrs. H. H. Wightman of Vancouver arrived in the city on the Princess Norah this morning and was met here by her son, H. M. Wightman, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada at Terrace. They proceeded this afternoon to Terrace where Mrs. Wightman sr. will pay a visit.

Smiles 'n Chuckles

"Madam, what do you mean by letting your child snatch off my wig?"

"Sir, if it is just a wig, think nothing of it. I was afraid that the little devil had scalped you."

Be an island of calm confidence in a world of turmoil—not blind wishful thinking, but belief in the power for right of a God who cares.—Wallace C. Speers.

1st Pretzel Bender: "They had to shoot my dog Growler this morning."

2nd Ditto: "Was he mad?"

1st P.B.: "Well, he wasn't any too darned pleased."

Jim: "Now my wife is trying to reduce. T his morning she touched the floor with her chin without bending her knees."

Fred: "Gee, how did she ever do that?"

Jim: "She fell out of bed."

Wife: "The new maid has burned the bacon and eggs, darling. Won't you be satisfied with a couple of kisses for breakfast?"

Husband: Sure. Bring her in."

A ventriloquist attended a funeral unknown to the mourners. Afterward, one of them told another what had happened at the cemetery.

"You won't believe it, Mose," the narrator said, still wild-eyed, "but when dey begins to lowah Joe in his grave, he said: 'Lemme down easy, boys.' "

"And did they finish burying him?"

"Man, Ah don't know. Ah didn't stay!"

A great Russian scientist has just refuted all previous theories concerning the hearing of fleas.

Recently, before a distinguished audience, he placed a flea in his right hand and ordered it to hop to his left. It did this several times. Then he pulled off the flea's legs and again ordered it to hop. It did not move.

"This proves," said the scientist, "that a flea becomes deaf when its legs are removed!"

A truck driver was taking a civil service examination. He was asked this question:

Examiner: "Did you ever belong to an organization that is trying to overthrow the government in Washington?"

Applicant (to the surprise of the examiner): "Yes."

Examiner: "You did! What is that organization?"

Applicant: "The Republican Party!"

Jasper Honors Cavell Memory

JASPER.—The famous annual Edith Cavell memorial service conducted by the Rev. E. N. P. Orme, MBE, was held Sunday morning at the Church of St. Mary and St. George in Jasper. This service marked the anniversary of the arrest of nurse Edith Cavell in 1915, during the First Great War.

The commemoration service was first instituted in 1925, shortly after Jasper's most majestic mountain was named in memory of Nurse Cavell and for several years the service was held at the foot of the peak. Recently it has been found more practical to hold it in Jasper townsite.

The church in Jasper was built in 1928 by an anonymous donor in memory of her son who was killed in action during the First World War. A copy of the proclamation announcing the execution of Edith Cavell and two letters in her handwriting are deposited in the archives of the church.

Rev. E. N. P. Orme served in the London Rifle Brigade during World War I, being taken prisoner in 1918. From 1919 to 1921 he saw duty with the Rifle Brigade on the northwest frontier of India and during the Second Great War served as chaplain with the Canadian Army overseas. Before returning to Canada he was decorated by King George.

Northbound from Vancouver to Skagway, CPR steamer Princess Norah, Capt. Charles Robson, arrived in port at 10 o'clock this morning and sailed at noon for Alaska. The vessel had on board 103 passengers, most of them round trip tourists. Disembarking here were Miss P. Hawthorne, H. J. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Kellett and two children, Miss M. Lundstrom, C. H. Martin and Mrs. H. H. Wightman.
