Ottawa Appreciates Need of New Federal Block Member Thinks

Lease on Present Premises Has Been Renewed For Only One Year, Olof Hanson Explains— Reviews Recent Session of Parliament

"I fully believe that the government realizes the necessity of an adequate federal building being erected in Prince Rupert and that it is with a view to further considering the project that the lease on the present building has been renewed for only one year," stated Olof Hanson, M. P. for Skeena, this morning following his return at the week-end from Ottawa where he attended the recent session of Parliament. Mr. Hanson explained that the year's renewal of the lease had been made from June 1 this year at a yearly rental of $5559 or a reduction of $981, about fifteen percent, from the former rental.

While no action was taken, Mr. Hanson declared that he believed the government was fully appreciative of the necessity of the Peace River railway outlet to the Pacific Coast being provided at an early date.

"One of the best items of legislation to be put through at the session," said Mr. Hanson, "was the bill providing for the nationalization of radio. This is a natural resource in its infancy which should have the protection which it is to be given."

Speaking of the forthcoming Imperial economic conference in Ottawa this summer which he considers will be an event of major importance, Mr. Hanson declared that important benefits will probably be derived if the Canadian government enters the conference resolved to meet the representatives of the various sections of the British commonwealth of nations in a spirit of give and take rather than one of dictation. "I do not look for any immediate results," said Mr. Hanson, "but I do expect that some profitable arrangements will be made which will prove encouraging and ultimately beneficial to our people."

The Bennett government is taking the problems of the day a good deal more seriously now than it did a short time ago, declares Mr. Hanson. An example of this was to be seen in the utterance at the convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at Ottawa of last week of Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, who declared that technical experts should have an equal say with bankers in the control of Canadian industries.

"I believe Premier Bennett is fully sincere," stated Mr. Hanson, "although up to now at least, his government has adopted a policy of protecting wealth and imposing taxation upon money in circulation and protecting money that is idle."

The session, Mr. Hanson said, was a busy one. All matters which were presented to him from the riding, as well as many other questions, were taken up in the proper quarters.

MINISTER AT JASPER

Dr. Manion Hears Stories of Fishing by Courtney Riley Cooper

JASPER, June 13—It is tough to be a minister of state even when the session is over. Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, and Courtney Ryley Cooper, noted sportsman and author, met by chance yesterday afternoon in the rotunda of Jasper Park Lodge.

Brimming with enthusiam over the newly opened waters of Maligne Lake, the sportsman regaled the minister with stories of three, four and five pound speckled fighters that rushed in sweeping arcs at the end of a line stretched taut.

It was'nt the first time the minister had heard of the fighting fish in the glacial lakes, but it was his first experience talking with the first angler to go in and explore the new fishing area.

Tales were told of struggles to the last, long-drawn gasp in the waters of a lake so deep, so blue that it was a perfect mirror for the perfect scenery that hemmed it in.

"I'd certainly like to go there," said Dr. Manion, regretfully, and meant every word of it. But the minister's circumstances willed otherwise and he left for the East last night, accompanied by Mrs. Manion and their son, Robert, after spending an enjoyable week-end in the park.

As the minister's train bore him back to work, a pony brought Cooper back to his sport. The writer plans a stay of several more days duration during which time he hopes to go to the far end of Maligne Lake and follow up a number of the tributaries that feed it.

First President Was Washington

State Department Issues Bulletin on Much Discussed Subject

While John Hanson (and sometimes Thomas McKean) has in various writings been spoken of as the "first president" because of the position which he held under the Articles of Confederation, his office was that of President of the United States in Congress assembled and was not the ofice of President of the United States of America, says a bulletin issued by the United States Department of State.

Not only actually and really but also in the most strict legal sense as well, George Washington was the first president of the United States of America.

Prairie Crops Are Far Ahead Of Last Year and Feeling of Optimism Pervades Country

WINNIPEG, June 13:—General optimism prevails over practically the whole of the grain growing areas in Western Canada as excellent growing weather has persisted since the last report, according to the weekly crop report of the agricultural department, Canadian National Railways. Days have been warm and sunny with beneficial showers which, in some districts, verged upon being torrential. Wheat is up from six to eight inches and in some districts is coming into shot blade. All crops are far ahead of the same time last year. Fall rye is heading out with straw about three feet in height.

In western sections, where cutworm outbreaks were anticipated, the heavy rains have, apparently, killed the majority of the developing grubs. In Manitoba, however, grasshoppers have been hatching steadily and in some districts the supply of poison bait has hardly been sufficient to keep up with the demand.

In Manitoba, muggy warm weather during the fore part of the week was ideal for the hatching of grasshoppers and, in some localities mixing stations, from which poison bait is distributed, have been operating 24 hours in the day. Present indications, however, are that this menace is being kept under control. Cutworm damage has not been as great as was anticipated, as apparently the heavy rains have restricted their activities.

Early sown wheat is now coming out in shot blade and stands are uniform with prospects most encouraging. Along the Gladstone subdivision indications at present point to the best crop in 17 years.

In the Swan River valley rainfall has been adequate except in the Dauphin district where, if warm

Young Polish Aviator Picked Up on Saturday Off Coast of Portugal

Had Been Missing For Nine Days Following Take-Off From New York For Warsaw—Was Forced to Abandon Plane

OPORTO, Portugal, June 13:—Stanislaus Hausner, young Polish aviator, who took off from Floyd Bennett Field at New York a week ago last Friday on a projected flight to Warsaw, Poland, and who had been given up for several days as lost, is safe and, not only that, almost succeeded in flying across the Atlantic Ocean. Hausner was picked up off the Portuguese coast on Saturday night.

Grateful at his own rescue, Hausner seemed to be even more anxious about his big Bellanca monoplane which he had been forced to abandon and appealed to passing ships to salvage the plane if possible.

Aboard steamer Circle City, June 1?— Stanislaus Felix Hausner, whose attempt at a transAtlantic flight from New York to Poland ended in the sea was still too exhausted today to tell his story. He was resting aboard this ship under treatment but promises to be completely restored to health before he arrives at New Orleans in about two weeks' time.

It was decided on Sunday night to abandon Hausner's plane on which he drifted for a week after falling a few hundred miles short of the European coast. He was picked up Saturday.
