WORLD FAMED ACTRESS SAID TO BE A VAMPIRE

Does Sarah Bernhardt Sap the Vitality of Others to Use in Her Marvellous Interpretations of Life and Character on the Stage

Is Sarah Bernhardt the great French actress a human vampire? Has she the power to draw strength and vitality from those she touches? Is this the secret of Madame's eternal youth; the reason why at nearly seventy years of age she has the charm and vigor of a girl?

A New York woman who met the great actress on her recent visit to that city thinks she has penetrated to the heart of Madame's secret of youth. This is her own account of her strange meeting and discovery:

"I went into a room where other persons were, and it was some little time before Madame

SARAH BERNHARDT

Bernhardt paid any attention to me. She looked at me several times in most searching fashion, then suddenly came over. She held out her hand, and, of course, I took it. As I wore silk gloves, I could feel a little thrill as our palms met.

"I want to talk to you for a while," she suddenly said.

"Naturally, I was thoroughly flattered, and, naturally, the others who were ignored while this exclusive attention was paid to me, were anything but pleased. I was in my highest spirits, and determined to make the best possible impression. Madame Bernhardt took me to a corner and we sat together. She took my hand as we settled ourselves and held it throughout the fifteen minutes,

"The converstaion was almost altogether personal. She showed the greatest interest in me, asked about my affairs, and had me chattering at a great rate. Then, when I wished to talk to her about herself, she was most obliging. At the end of the time she made a graceful excuse, and I went out. I noticed that she was in the best of spirits as I left, which was in contrast to a bit of weariness she had shown when I had seen her talking with others, and, of course, I was more intensely flattered.

"Then came a most curious development. I had no sooner left than I felt a peculiar weariness. I could not understand what was the reason. I took a taxicab and went home, and by the time I arrived there I had a headache. I had to lie down for the rest of the afternoon, and it was next morning before I again felt like myself.

"I have been told that I have the same effect on others; that I seem to draw every ounce of spirit they have in them. There are women friends of mine who avoid me because of this feeling. I have an idea that while Madame Bernhardt was holding my hand she tunred the tables on me and drew a supply of energy that helped her to get through the day. I wonder how many others, men and women have had the same experience."

HE WILL BE CHOSEN AS NEXT HIGH COMMISSIONER

Sketch of Career of Sir Frederick W. Borden, Lord Strathcona's Successor—Has Been Elected Member of Canada's Parliament Ten Times

The Honorable Sir Frederick William Borden, K.C.M.G., B.A., M.D., P.C., who, it is announced from Ottawa, will shortly leave for London as Canadian High Commissioner, succeeding Lord Strathcona who is retiring, is the son of the late Jonathan Borden, and was born at Cornwallis, N. S., May 14th, 1874. He was educated

SIR FREDERICK W. BORDEN
Who will be the next Canadian High Commissioner

at King's College, Windsor, being graduated as B. A. in 1866, subsequently attending Harvard Medical School, Boston. He was graduated from that institution in 1868, and practised medicine at Canning, N. S., where he was also agent for the Halifax Banking Company. In 1893 he was a member of the Provincial Board of Health. He was appointed assistant surgeon in the 68th Regiment, and, by promotion, Honorary Surgeon Lieutenant-Colonel in October of the same year. He was first returned for Parliament for King's County, N. S., in the general elections, 1874, and was re-elected at the general election in 1878, but was defeated in 1882. He was again elected for the same county in 1887 and in 1891. On a petition the election was declared void, but he was re-elected. Sir Frederick was again returned at the general elections in 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908. He was therefore been elected ten times and defeated once. He was sworn in as Privy Councillor and appointed Minister of Militia in the Laurier administration on July 13th, 1896. Sir Frederick was in charge of the Militia Department when the Canadian contingents were sent to South Arfica. Subsequently he reorganized the department, appointed a Militia Council, established a great military camp, and enlarged and strengthened the force and its equipment all over Canada. He has plans for a naval reserve and has made the commencement of a Canadian Navy. Sir Frederick was re-elected by acclamation on appointment to office in 1896, and was created, by King Edward, on the occasion of his Majesty's coronation in 1902, a Knight Commander of the distinguished order of St. Michael and St. George. His favorite recreations are walking, fishing and music.

Sir Frederick has been twice married, his first wife being Julia M., daughter of J. H. Clarke, Canning, N. S., and his second wife, being Miss Bessie B. Clark, also of Canning, to whom he was married in June, 1884.
