Placer Gold Is Mandy's Subject

Series of Lectures By Resident Mining Engineer Continue to be Followed With Interest

Geology of the formation of placer gold in river and creek deposits was the subject of Dr. J. T. Mandy, resident mining engineer for the northwestern mineral survey district, at his weekly lecture in the City Hall, a good sized crowd of persons interested in mining and prospecting being again present. Lantern slides were used to illustrate the discourse.

Next week Dr. Mandy will continue the placer gold discussion with special reference to recovery methods and information as to proper equipment to be used in opening up prospects.

The weekly lecture series will conclude the week after next.

SPORT CHAT

Good weather appears today to be looming up for the much-heralded challenge softball game to be played tomorrow afternoon in aid of the library fund between the Moose team, challengers, and the Elks, who responded to the challenge. A good lively encounter in the "rounders" pastime is anticipated and, if weather holds such as it is today, there should be no question about a large crowd being present to see a thrilling battle and also help along the good cause.
