When Gerry Comes

When Gerry McGeer comes to Prince Rupert toward the end of the present campaign, everyone will want to hear him speak. He is one of the most forceful orators in Canada and wherever he has gone he has been listened to with eagerness and with respect. He is expected at the end of this month.

Means to an End

Premier Pattullo states that the Liberal party is only a means to an end. He thoroughly believes that it is the only equipped and effective political organization through which the people of British Columbia can be served governmentally at the present time. In support of that statement he refers to a record of achievement and he states that the party still has "definite and progressive plans for the future." Also he states that they have "the knowledge, experience and determination to put these plans into effect."

No Use For Antis

We have very little use for the people who are against everything. If our democracy is to succeed it must be by doing things rather than by opposing things.

It is noticed that the dictators all set out by appealing to the prejudices of the people by opposing something. They persecute the Jews, they object to people who are not of Nordic blood, they shoot down the aristocrats or the wealthy, they oppose instituted religion.

In order to make proper progress it is not necessary to oppose things so much as to do things. What we need in Canada is advancement along sane lines. All citizens can find a niche in the great nation that we expect to make here. We do not have to shoot people or to drive people out of the country or to deprive them of reasonable privileges .What we must do is to gradually build up a sane democracy in which there will be a good living for everyone and an opportunity for advancement to those who are capable and willing to take advantage of their opportunities.

In Russia they tried making all equal and giving the same wages to all but they found that this was taken advantage of by the indolent and the careless and that those who wished to work did so and others idled. This led to the change of policy under which every person is paid according to his earnings. The policy there is very radical in one respect and that is that the person who does not fall in with the views of the government gets neither work or wages or food allowance.

PITTSBURG WON AGAIN

Continues Pennant Winning Pace In National League—Athletics Still Lead American

PITTSBURG, May 19: (CP)—Pittsburg Pirates continued firmly entrenched in first place in the National League yesterday by virtue of a close two to one victory over the Phillies. The Phils slipped into cellar position below the Boston Bees and Cincinnati Reds who had been tied in the basement. In the only other National League game played yesterday, owing to rain in the west, the St. Louis Cardinals had a close victory over the New York Giants. The Cards, as a result, remained in second place three and a half games behind the Pirates, the Giants dropping into a tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers for third place.

In the American League the Philadelphia Athletics scored another close victory over the Detroit Tigers to maintain a one game margin of supremacy over the second place Cleveland Indians who defeated the Boston Red Sox. The St. Louis Browns defeated the cellar-dwelling Washington Senators and moved into sixth place ahead of the Chicago White Sox who were blanked by the New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium.

Both sides put up a splendid exhibition of soccer and the substantial size of the crowd indicated a healthy interest in the sport, auguring well for the season's activities.
