Improving Quality of Prince Rupert Halibut For Market—Local Fleet Will be Leaving For Banks Next Week

Following up an announcement made by Col. J. W. Nicholls, general manager of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., that the fresh and frozen halibut interests of British Columbia had made arrangements whereby services of six members of the scientific staff of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station would be used this year in connection with a program designed to improve every phase of handling fish from the time it is caught on the banks until it is delivered to the markets of the world, Dr. Neal M. Carter, director of the Fisheries Experimental Station, has disclosed details of how this campaign will be carried out.

Members of the King Edward High School Correspondence Club visited the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station during the past week to gain information which can be used in writing letters to countries abroad. One group visited the station Tuesday afternoon and another on Thursday.

The appropriation allowed by the Biological Board of Canada to the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station for the 1937-38 fiscal year is $37,000 as compared with $33,000 last year. A certain portion of this will be available for increased investigations.

Preparations continue apace for the departure during the coming week of local halibut boats whose names begin with letters from A to L. The fishing season opens on March 15, a week from Monday and there will be a goodly number of vessels ready on the banks to start fishing as soon as the law permits. The Takla, Capt. Chris Parkvold, going to Area No. 3, may be the first local boat to get away. Boats for Area No. 2 will leave towards the end of next week. There has been no agreement reached yet with Vancouver fleet in regard to curtailment and marketing this season.

Passed Exams

After having spent a few days here conducting examinations of upwards of twenty candidates for tugboat masters papers who received instruction at Capt. J. R. Elfert's school for navigation during the past winter, Capt. Lionel H. Lindsay, examiner of masters and mates, sailed by the Princess Adelaide last night on his return to Vancouver.

Those successful in passing the tests were:

Tugboat masters—P. Byrne, O. Edwards, O. Sather, P. Thompson, R. Elsren, L. Tusvik, H. Eyolfsen and H. Doiron.

Coastwise mates, passenger vessels—F. Brooksbank and J. McLeod.

Service masters, coastwise freight vessels—P. Thompson, A. Strand, P. Byrne, C. Strand, H. Doiron, J. Desmulles, W. J. Thomas, H. Tattersal, H. Casperson, C. Edwards, J. Hartlan and F. Dudoward.

These were members of a class of forty-six who attended the School for Navigation. They passed one hundred percent, there being no failures.

C. P. R. steamer Princess Louise will be coming north next week on the run of the Princess Adelaide which will be withdrawn from service at the conclusion of the present voyage for annual overhaul at Victoria. The Louise will take the run of the Adelaide for three voyages.

The steamer Cardena will be here again tomorrow on the run of the Catala, annual overhaul of which at Vancouver is taking a week longer than was originally planned. This will involve the steamer Venture coming north again next week in place of the Cardena.

Skeena Fishing Curtailed

In the interests of conservation, Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries, announces that fishing curtailment measures of a decidedly drastic nature will be put into effect this summer. If results of fishing and escapement during the early part of July following the opening of fishing indicate that even more drastic measures than those already planned are necessary, such will be imposed. Even entire closure may be resorted to if deemed imperative.

Meanwhile the following regulations are announced:

"1.—From the commencement of the sockeye fishing season on July 1, the upper boundary will be from Mowich (Powell) Point to a fishing boundary sign directly opposite on the south side of the Skeena River and this boundary will be maintained for all net fishing, irrespective of size of mesh, until the local officers are satisfied that the sockeye run has passed, when it may be restored to the position of 1935 for the balance of the season.

"2.—The boat rating for 1937 will be 850 boats for a forty-eight hour weekly closed period.

"3.—Sockeye nets will be permitted from July 1 to August 6 following.

"4.—Gillnets having meshes of not less than 8½ inches will be permitted from January 1 to July 23, but during the period of sockeye fishing these nets will not be permitted to be operated above the sockeye boundary.

"5.—From August 6 no fishing with nets of any kind will be permitted until 6 p.m. on August 15.

"6.—Following the above mentioned special closed season, gillnets of meshes not less than 6½ inches will be permitted to the end of the fishing season.

"7.—The upper boundary for spring salmon fishing from January 1 to June 30 will be the boundary in the vicinity of Aberdeen as established in 1935. During sockeye fishing the upper boundary for all net fishing will be from Mowich (Powell) Point to a fishing boundary sign directly opposite on the south side of the Skeena River. After the re-opening of the fishing on August 15, the upper boundary will again be placed in the former location in the vicinity of Aberdeen."

What IS MODERN COOKING

ROASTS that STAY Tender and Juicy

MEATS with LESS SHRINKAGE and MORE FOOD VALUE

NO watching or "fork poking" or "oven peeping"

— in other words . . .

ELECTRIC Cooking

Meat is the foundation of a man's meals. And does he like his meats well cooked! What a joy to have a modern range, one that unfailingly produces roasts that retain their flavors and juices. That are tender and appetizing. That are good to chew on and good to look at. Meats that are inexpensive to prepare because they don't dry out. That's modern cooking — electric cooking — quick, sure, economical. A few dollars a month will install a new electric range in YOUR home. Liberal allowance for your old stove.
