Nephew Of Lord Strathcona Was In City Monday

An interesting passenger going south yesterday afternoon aboard the steamer Princess Norah was Alexander Smith, world traveller, adventurer and newphew of the late Lord Strathcona, who has been of late interested in mining in the Atlin district and who is now going to Vancouver to obtain machinery to be used in the development of ground there. "Sandy,, Smith, as he is familiarly known, is getting along in years now but he is still very active. He is well known in the north and can spin many an interesting yarn of experiences there as well as elsewhere in the frontier districts of Canada and the world.
