Nordkap Society Celebrates 'Xmas

Delightful Scandinavian Social Gathering Last Night in Metropole Hall Enjoyed by Large Crowd

The Nordkap Society held its annual Christmas Tree celebration in the Metropole Hall last night with a capacity crowd in attendance. The early part of the evening was given over to a program appropriate to the occasion culminating in the singing of carols around the Christmas tree after which dancing was enjoyed.

Inge Valen was chairman and the proceedings opened with a song in which all the audience joined. Other items on the program included piano solo by Peter Lien, address by Rev. T. H Risberg, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church; selections by the Varden Singers and an instrumental trio by Mr. Walker, Mr. Calebson and Mr. Lien.

Following the singing of carols around the Christmas tree, dancing commenced at 10 p.m. with music by Fossum Brothers' Orchestra and Nels Gunderson as master of ceremonies.

The committee in charge consisted of Maurelius Holkestad, Mrs. T. Sollien, Mrs. R. Jensen, Mrs. P. Wikdal, Inge Valen, H. Gulbransen and B. Pedersen. Invald Fenness presided at the door.

To Relieve
BABY'S HEAD COLD Misery

DO THIS: Massage his throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub and tuck him into bed. Next, put a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; place a newspaper or sheet over the child's head like a tent, covering the bowl too, so the medicated vapors can be inhaled for several minutes. This treatment loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion. Long after he relaxes into peaceful sleep, VapoRub's poultice-and-vapor action is still bringing relief—and you can get a good night's rest too.

Victor I. Haan, superintendent of the railway division of the White Pass and Yukon Route at Skagway and Mrs. Haan were passengers aboard the Princess Norah yesterday afternoon returning to Alaska after a holiday in Seattle.

Many Attend Burial Rites

Mrs. Ethel May McKinley Laid At Rest Following Service Yesterday Afternoon

There was a large gathering of friends yesterday afternoon at the chapel of the B. C. Undertakers for the funeral of the late Mrs. Ethel May McKinley, formerly of Surf Point and for the past year a resident of Prince Rupert, whose death occurred earlier in the week. Rev. E. E. Brandt, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated and Miss Lois Judge presided at the organ to accompany the hymns which were "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

Following the chapel service, interment was made in Fairview Cemetery. Pallbearers were N. McKenzie, H. V. Tattersal, A. Cromp Peter Laporte, B. R. Rice and Earl Becker.

There were numerous floral offerings.

SOUTH SEA SAGA HERE

"Hurricane," With Dorothy Lamour and Jon Hall, is Real Thriller

A dramatic saga of the South Seas, said to be rich in all the elements of cinematic entertainment, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this week-end in "The Hurricane" with Dorothy Lamour and Jon Hall heading an imposing cast which also includes Mary Astor, C. Aubrey Smith, Thomas Mitchell, Raymond Massey, John Carradine and Jerome Cowan.

The story, replete with tender romance, powerful drama, picturesque setting and a spectacular and exciting climax, is that of two native sweethearts on a low island who are wed but whose happiness is short-lived after the husband, mate of a trading schooner, is imprisoned for striking a white man who insults him. After five years he escapes and makes his way home to his native island. The search for him is at its height when a great hurricane blows up. Unmindful of his own safety, he goes to help the inhabitants and, in the fury of nature's elements, plays an important part. The hurricane scenes, as implied by the title, constitute the outstanding feature of the picture.

Soup Of Mums Lures London

Metropolis Intrigued by Recipe Received From Vancouver

LONDON, Dec. 30: (CP)—Newest culinary idea is chrysanthemum soup, relates the London News Chronicle. Recipe, given by the Japanese Chrysanthemum Society of Vancouver, was tried out by a London chef who pronounced the soup "very palatable." If you want to try it, take one pint of milk, a tablespoonful of cornflour and one large chrysanthemum. Heat the milk and butter in a pan, add cornflour and stir until thick. Add chopped chrysanthemum petals which have been soaked in boiling water for two minutes.

DIRECTING EVOLUTION

Scientist Believes Mankind Given Greater Control of Development

NEW YORK, Dec. 30: (CP)—Few scientists of today will defend an atheistic attitude on the evolution of mankind, according to Dr. Arthur Compton, University of Chicago physics professor and Nobel prize winner.

In an address here on the "Religion of a Scientist," Dr. Compton said that, "as we learn more about the world, the probability of its having resulted by chance processes becomes more and more remote.

The world is still in the early stages of evolution and, as man develops, he probably will take over from God responsibility for the evolution of life on earth, the Chicago scientist said.

Faith in God may be a thoroughly scientific attitude, Dr. Compton declared, even though it is not possible to establish the correctness of the belief

"Such a faith is presumably based on the experience that the hypothesis of God gives a more reasonable interpretation of the world than any other," he said.

Analysing the present stage of evolution Dr. Compton said man is now master of plant and animal life on earth and, to a large extent, even the means of controlling his own evolution.

"Gradually the responsibility is being shifted by God to our shoulders. As science advances it seems inevitable that this transfer of authority will approach completeness," he said.
