"SPELL IT BACKWARDS!"

"And you get the word MILK", points out Elsie, the Borden Cow. "And that's just what KLIM is—pure, fresh, whole milk with all the cream left in, powdered by removing the natural moisture content. Simply add Klim to cold water—whisk with a beater—and you have an instant supply of creamy pasteurized whole milk. I can't recommend anything better for baby, home or camp."

Christian Principles Will Have To Be Forcefully Applied, Declares Young Speaker

The local branch of the Religious Education Council of Canada had its opening rally of the season last night at First United Church with a good-sized congregation in attendance. Tom Johnstone was in the chair and the feature of the program was an address by Ken Harding entitled "A Creed for Youth in the World Today." Jack Hopkins read the Scripture and Miss Kay Watson took the prayer. Miss Swanna Olafson presided at the pipe organ. Rev. R. C. H. Durnford, rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church, led the congregational singing.

The speaker referred to the fact that Great Britain had declared war on September 3, 1939, as it had on August 4, 1914, against Germany as an aggressive nation. The last war had not ended war, saved democracy or brought world peace and neither would this one unless Christians developed their creed and brought about a widespread revival of Christian responsibility. War could never be ended by war and only good men could make the world good. As the present and immediate task of putting down aggression was undertaken this should not be forgotten. The churches had been somewhat abstract in the past. The speaker cited a creed of four essentials—first, serenity of soul; second, abiding by the aim; third, loyalty to the Christian principle of love; fourth, tolerance. There must be a firm belief in the Christian gospel. There must not be a fear of applying beliefs. Sentiments of revenge must be forgotten. More than ever today was toleration needed by the world.

Present conditions were due to a welter of wrong principles, said the speaker. Hope, however, should not be lost. The sun would come out after the storm which would have shown up the things that need fixing.

Sacrifice Of Unselfishness

Urged By Pastor At Morning Service In First Presbyterian Church Yesterday

Sacrifice on behalf of God in Christ's example of fortitude rather than for motives of acclaim or material benefit was urged by Rev. H. G. Funston, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, at morning service yesterday. In the making of important decisions in these times of stress, there should be the spiritual consideration, asserted the pastor.

PARTY OF FAREWELL

Saturday evening the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Large was the scene of an enjoyable party when members of the First United Church gathered to bid farewell to Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Kergin and Mrs. W. H. Kergin who have been active and valued members of the church for twenty-nine years.

On behalf of the congregation Rev. J. C. Jackson delivered an address of appreciation and presented to Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Kergin a beautiful Sheffield silver hors d'oeuvre and chop dish and to Mrs. W. H. Kergin a leather writing case. Corsage bouquets were given Mrs. W. T. Kergin and Mrs. W. H. Kergin by the Women's Missionary Society and Ladies' Aid organizations of the church.

Rev. W. H. Pierce, on behalf of the ten Indian tribes of the north presented to Dr. and Mrs. Kergin a gift of carved spoons. He said the native people were anxious that Dr. Kergin should know how much they have appreciated his long and valued service in the north and therefore bestowed on him the name Dr. Twilakaa, meaning "Heaven All Around."

During the evening entertaining group contests and games, arranged by Mrs. E. P. Jenner and Mrs. H. T. Lock, were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by a committee convened by Mrs. G. V. Wilkinson.

Natives Object To Boys Enlisting Without Authority

At a meeting of Native Indians held Saturday night in the Metropole Hall under the auspices of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, objection was raised to young native men under 21 years of age joining the army or navy without the consent of their parents. The meeting asked the Indian Agent to act on their behalf in seeing that the consent of the parents was secured before enlistments were allowed.

It was suggested at the meeting that one reason why some natives objected to joining the army was because natives had been discriminated against after the Great War.

CANADA'S AIRMEN WERE SENT EARLY

like a duck to water. During the Great War men like Air Marshal Bishop, V.C., Colonel Barker, Collishaw, MacLaren, Mulle... and others created a tradition in the old Royal Flying Corps and Royal Naval Air Service which set up a mark for future generations to shoot at.

Canadians outnumbered men from the other Dominions in the war-time R.F.C., and at one time made up more than 40 per cent of its personnel. It was a Canadian who shot down Germany's No. 1 ace, Baron Mannfred von Richtofen, whose squadron second-in-command was Lieutenant, now Marshal, Goering. Germany's present No. 2 Nazi took over when Richtofen was killed.

Air Force Function

In the event of hostilities, the function of the Air Force would be to attack any sistile craft approaching Canada's shores. With their great bombing range and high speed, the machines now used by the fliers would be able to cruise from 300 to 400 miles out to sea, reconnoitering a vast expanse of ocean.

Torpedo bombers descend almost to the surface of the water, let loose their torpedo and make their getaway. The others follow the orthodox practice of unloading their "eggs" on top of the surface craft.

For submarine reconnaissance aircraft are also useful, since observers at a height are better able to discern the "feather" of a submarine than those on the same level at a distance away from it. Thus recannaissance and attack would be the functions the airmen would carry out, in addition to dealing with hostile bombers and freighters which might appear.

A useful duty would be scouting over the isolated inlets of Newfoundland and Labrador, which afford concealment for any enemy raiders. Recently the R.C.A.F. carried out a survey of that region, looking for possible landing fields, and, possibly, for places were potential enemy vessels might be able to hide.

Such a survey was executed last year on Anticosti Island and a place selected for an air base.
