

THIRTY LIBERAL CLUBS FORM FEDERATION

Hundred Ontario Delegations Meet in Convention to Organize.

Toronto, April 1.—To assure the permanence of the club movement among young men interested in political questions, representatives of 31 Liberal clubs from all over Ontario met in the Temple Building this afternoon and formed the Liberal Club Federation of Ontario. Clubs among young men for the study and discussion of the political questions in a frank and non-partisan way have been established in large numbers during the past few months. Some of the leading spirits of the various organizations felt that a federation would enable the stronger clubs to help the weaker over times of difficulty and today's meeting is the result.

The happiest people in the world are those who let others do the worrying for them.

WAR NEWS TO COME FROM AEROPLANES

Craft Better as News Gatherer than as Fighting Instrument

As a result of his long-distance study of the Balkan war engagement, Brigadier-General James N. Allison, U. S. A., has come to the conclusion that the province of the aeroplane in modern warfare is rather as a news-gatherer than as a fighting instrument, says the Boston Transcript.

"While a correspondent ascribes the deadly artillery fire of the Bulgarians in several instances to the activity of the air-men and information furnished by them, the weight of evidence, meagre though it be, furnished at this time would indicate the province of the aeroplane to be a collector and dispenser of information in all directions, rather than a fighting agency."

Few men can look back at their past without wanting to dodge up an alley.

BORDEN'S NAVAL POLICY AND THAT OF LAURIER

paying off their national debt if there is a financial emergency? Premier Borden says, in effect: We will go to the old country and borrow $35,000,000 and add that to our national debt. We will increase our national debt by $35,000,000 in order that the British taxpayer may decrease his national debt by $35,000,000." (Laughter.)

Mr. Patmore then ridiculed the Conservative argument that Canada cannot build ships but we believe Canadians could do anything. What had the Conservatives done here? Joe Merrifield and his bunch had constructed a patronage trough big enough to hold the whole bunch. One would say such men would be unwilling to say that Canadians could not construct anything. (Laughter.) He concluded by quoting Sir Richard McBride: "Now in all seriousness what is the most reasonable policy? We need a Canadian navy." But Sir Richard was a great political acrobat.

Frank Angers Speaks.

Mr. Frank Angers made a brilliant speech with the need of re-registering the keynote. The duty of the Liberal party in this province was to expose, especially to the new voter, how McBride got his power and build up so corrupt a political organization. He showed how large corporations had rallied around McBride, and especially in regard to timber anybody could secure immense limits who was able to deliver the votes. He said that the civil service made the Conservative machine in this province as strong as any Tammany Hall. At the expense of the ratepayers, an army of fire wardens, road men and police were sent through the province to coerce voters. If McBride and his doings were properly exposed he believed the Liberal party would have all the independent vote at the next election, whether provincial or federal.

President Manson closed the meeting with a few words. He thought there was no question that there would be a federal election in from two to six months and from the remarks of Mr. Angers as to laying the issues clearly before the new voters, it might be advisable for the association to hold meetings more frequently.

Mr. Stork pointed out that several commissioners were present and those who had not already registered could do so.

In reply to a question as to the threatened closure Ald. Naden explained the procedure at length and said the Conservatives would find it as difficult to pass a closure bill as they were finding it to pass the naval bill.
