Whifflets
From The Waterfront

Herring are now running in seining quantities at Altanash Inlet, just south of Butedale, as well as at Union Bay, off the lower end of Wark Canal, and the B.C. Packers reduction plant at Port Edward is now running on these fish. Engaged in packing for the Port Edward plant are the local halibut boats Covenant, Capt. Hans Underdahl; Dovre B., Capt. Tony Martinusen, and Lois N., Capt. Ben Peterson. It is expected Nelson Bros. Ltd. reduction plant at Tucks Inlet will be starting soon to grind herring. J. A. Clarke, formerly well known Skeena River cannery manager and now one of the officials of Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd., arrived in Prince Rupert yesterday from Vancouver.

Union steamer Catala, at the conclusion of this week's voyage at Vancouver, is being withdrawn from service for annual overhaul and will be replaced by the Cardena on the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Stewart run. The Cardena's place on the Vancouver-Bella Coola-Prince Rupert route will be taken by the Venture.

John Dybhavn returned to the city on last night's train from Ottawa where he attended the annual meeting of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada.
