Gets U.K. News Under Bombing

LONDON, June 6: (CP)—Tribute to the manner in which the Press Association, British news agency, had carried on through heavy German air raids in London and provincial cities was paid at the association's annual meeting.

James Henderson, chairman of the organization and joint managing director of the Belfast News Letter, Ltd., analyzed the difficulties confronting the P.A. as a result of the war. He commended the way in which staffs in London and other centres had carried on.

The Press Association co-operates with the London Bureau of the Canadian Press in United Kingdom news.

Irish Problem Is Unemployed

DUBLIN, June 6: (CP)—Unemployment is increasing in Eire and is showing no decrease in Northern Ireland despite additional war work there and in the United Kingdom, James Cormack, Canadian trade commissioner, reports.

Many workers from Eire are going to Northern Ireland and the United Kingdom for war work, Cormack says, and some are enlisting in the British forces. Local defence forces also absorb many unemployed.

In Northern Ireland, the number of unemployed is holding around 70,000. Skilled men in the engineering and shipbuilding trades have all been absorbed but the linen industry, a major one in Northern Ireland, has been badly hit by a shortage of flax.

No matter what you use to wash with your white wash needs blue

● Rinsing does more than anything else to prevent that greyish-yellow tinge.

There are plenty of ways of washing and they mostly get things clean. But there's only one thing to make them really white — the last rinse in blue water!

OUR WORLD STILL BEST

English-Born Woman Astronomer Finds Earth Most Liveable Place In Universe

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 6: (CP)—Despite its wars and tribulations, declares Dr. Cecilia Payne-Gaposchkin of the Harvard Observatory, ours is the best world and perhaps the only place to live, in the entire cosmos of planets. Her astronomical researches, alone and with her husband, have brought her international fame.

Native of England, Dr. Cecilia also is the mother of three children. She is a lucid philosopher and a writer of as yet unpublished detective stories.

This world is an Elysian field, she says, when compared with the surface of a star, and it's not beset with the coldness of Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune, nor the waterless heat of Mercury.

From the window of our planet, she says, we are given "fitful glimpses of a vista that should go far to console us for the material difficulty and discomfort."

For those gifts of the cosmos, she sees humankind paying back, in the coin of "our human need, human ingenuity, a sense of wonder and a sense of beauty."

Capt. A. G. Rix, recruiting officer for this area; Capt. C. D. [illegible] dington, medical officer, and [illegible] geant C. B. MacFarland returned to the city on the Prince George this morning from a trip to Ocean [illegible] Bella Coola and elsewhere in the area.
