PRINCE RUPERT BRITISH COLUMBIA

ON WAY TO CONVENTION

Fifty Natives Here Enroute To Skeena Crossing For Native Brotherhood Gathering

Some fifty delegates from various villages along the coast arrived in Prince Rupert over the weekend, mostly in their own boats, being on their way to Skeena Crossing to attend the annual convention of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia which will open tomorrow and continue throughout the week. Among the points to be represented at this big annual native gathering are North Vancouver, Cape Mudge, Bella Coola, Bella Bella, Hartley Bay, Kitimaat, Kitkatla, Port Simpson, Kincolith, Greenville, Massett, Kitselas, Kitwanga, Hazelton, Kispiox, Telkwa, Moricetown and Fraser Lake.

Alfred Adams of Massett, president of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, and H. D. Bailey of Port Simpson, grand secretary, lead the party which is proceeding from here to the interior by this evening's train.

Moses Jones is in charge of the local arrangements for the convention activities at Skeena Crossing. There is a full program of social activities in addition to the convention business which will include the consideration of numerous matters of importance to the natives.

Red Cross News

CAIRNS DESCRIBES WORK

Personal word of the expansion of Canadian Red Cross work was brought to British Columbia last week by W. J. Cairns, Toronto, assistant national commissioner of the Society. "Our greatest project is providing food parcels for prisoners of war," Mr. Cairns said. "We have just leased a packing plant in Winnipeg and this brings our packing facilities in five plants to a total of 100,000 parcels a week. We have now 40 blood donor clinics in Canada," Mr. Cairns continued, "donations have been 5300 a week, but our objective is 12,000 a week. The Red Cross will open more clinics in vulnerable areas so that blood plasma will be on hand in the event of enemy attack." Mr. Cairns' visit to the coast was primarily concerned with disaster relief work. "In war the Red Cross acts as an auxiliary to the Department of Militia and Defence," he stated. "We have taken on the responsibility of providing first aid equipment to first aid posts, temporary hospitalization, food, clothing, shelter and registration of casualties in the event of air raids or evacuation from bombed areas." Mr. Cairns has just returned from a similar mission on the Atlantic coast. On his present trip he was joined at Prince Rupert by the British Columbia Red Cross Commissioner, Mr. F. W. Tuffrey. While in Vancouver, Mr. Cairns had conferences with Dr. R. J. Manion, Dominion ARP director, local ARP authorities and the provincial Red Cross executive.

Mrs. Myfanwy Spencer Campbell, one of Canada's outstanding younger artists, gave a recent exhibition of her paintings in Victoria which realized $2070 for the local branch. Mrs. Campbell has arranged a similar exhibit for Vancouver and her pictures are on display at David Spencer Limited.

Misses A. E. and J. E. Bostick of Monte Creek, a few miles from Kamloops, picked and sold plums and grapes, which realized $100 for the Kamloops Red Cross treasury. These ladies have also carder, dyed and knitted their own wool into a number of Red Cross sweaters, balaclava helmets and socks.

Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C. Canadian hero of Dieppe, in his first letter to his wife, asked her to get in touch with the Red Cross when sending parcels to him.

A Vernon centenarian, Mrs. Lydia Tarry, 101 years of age, sent six beautifully knit face cloths in Vernon's last shipment of Red Cross supplies to Red Cross headquarters.

DIFFERENT MEANING

In Anzac slang "graft" means to work hard.

NEWS-HERALD HEAD IS PROUD

D. A. Hamilton Says Vancouver Daily is Fastest Growing Paper in Canada

Publisher of what he claims is "the fastest growing newspaper in Canada, Duncan A. Hamilton, who left Prince Rupert Saturday for the south, is proud of the staff he has built up to produce the Vancouver News-Herald and regretful that the war has taken away so many of his promising young men.

The News-Herald, Vancouver's morning paper, has made an unusual upward spurt during the past year to reach a circulation figure in the neighborhood of 26,000. Mr. Hamilton, a Vancouver business man who entered the publishing field for the first time several years ago, is now steeped in the lingo of the trade, and talks easily of "P.M.'s", "Bulldogs," "lineage" and suchlike. He has been somewhat of an enigma to his business acquaintances because of the way his paper has leaned rather to the left, frequently sponsoring the cause of labor and having a good word to say for the C.C.F.

Prior to Mr. Hamilton taking control of the paper, it was run by the staff, which held the stock in the company and elected its own management. This interesting experiment, however, did not prove a financial success.

Record In Attendance

During the eight days ending November 19, the Capitol Theatre had the biggest attendance in its history, Manager Borland reports. Over 15,000 people entered the theatre to see the three features, "Mrs. Miniver." "Birth of a Baby," and "Tortilla Flat," shown during that period.
