COLOGNE POUNDED HEAVILY

Great German Industrial City Again Objective of R.A.F.—Other Targets Also Hit

LONDON, July 5—British and Canadian bombers raided Cologne again Saturday night. It was the 118th raid on the great German Rhineland industrial city. An official announcement said the attack was "in great strength" and "well concentrated."

Thirty-two bombers, including eight Canadian, are missing following the raid.

There were lesser raids on Hamburg and the Ruhr Valley. Other planes sowed mines in enemy waters and patrols were carried out over Belgium and the Netherlands.

Royal Canadian Air Force, Royal Air Force and United States planes were over Northern France in daylight raids Sunday.

The raid on Cologne lasted for 45 minutes. It was concentrated on a suburban area of railways and war industries. Two million pounds of bombs were dropped on an area estimated about five square miles in extent. Terrific explosions and fires visible for a distance of 150 miles were described by returning Canadian pilots.

Objectives in Northern France of the Royal Canadian Air Force and Royal Air Force bombers and nited states flying fortresses Sunday included Amiens, Le Mans, Nantes and La Pallice. Eight Fortresses were lost.

GAS MASKS WORK WELL

Another Interesting Sunday for Men of Prince Rupert Machine Gun Regiment

"Well, that's the best cry I've had in years," remarked one of the men of the Prince Rupert Machine Gun Regiment yesterday after coming out of a regimental gas chamber where members of four companies were taken during the day for respirator tests.

On their first entry to the chamber, the reservists were put through various exercises while wearing their respirators. Then they were allowed to go outside and the respirators were taken off. Back in the chamber with the gas masks off, they found the place quite heavily gas laden. They had not been aware of the gas on the first entry. Thus the effectivenees of the army respirators was well proven.

ATTACKS ON ITALY

Heavy Raids Directed Against Sardinia and Sicily

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 5 — New attacks have been made against the Axis in the Mediterranian area. Nine raids have been directed against Sardinia and Sicily.

Five thousand feet of decks at Trepani in Sicily have been destroyed, rendering the installations there practically useless. Four enemy air fields in Sardinia and three in Sicily were attacked.

Nine Allied planes were lost but at least ten enemy planes were shot down during the attacks. Further raids have been carried out on points close to Rome.

R.C.A.F. FLIERS MEET JAPS IN ALEUTIANS

Pilots of a Royal Canadian Air Force fighter unit operating in the Aleutians have lived up to the slogan which hangs above the front door of an American fighter pilot mess, shown in the upper picture. The American fighter command has recognized the Canadians' qualities after their participation in daily bombing and fighter sweeps over Kiska. In the lower photo, beside one of their Kittyhawk fighters, are three members of an R.C.A.F. squadron. Left to right: Pilot Officer G. R. Blair, Shawinigan Falls, Que.; Warrant Officer W. D. Peacock, Noranda, Que., and Flight Sgt. J. L. Sabourin, Montreal. — (R.C.A.F. Photo.)
