

In the hollow of Your hand

You have a chance to make excellent profits from the development of that greatest of all sections of the Canadian West—the North Pacific Coast. Fortunes were made at Prince Rupert by those who invested there in the beginning. Fortunes will be made at Port Edward by those who invest wisely now.

Prince Rupert needs an industrial complement to permit of its fullest development. The Grand Trunk itself acknowledges that there is not sufficient room for the location of industries along the waterfront in Prince Rupert. Port Edward—immediately adjacent to Prince Rupert—offers the only available location for an industrial annex. Port Edward is sufficiently close to the centre of the Prince Rupert business section to assure easy communication.

A dyke will be constructed at Delkatla which will open up for cultivation five hundred acres of good land. The dyke will be placed on what is known as Delkatla Slough and will be quite an undertaking. Mr. Dollemeyer, the owner of the Massett town-site, will construct the dyke.

ATLIN TAKING ON A NEW LEASE OF LIFE

Local Merchants Busy Outfitting Stampede for the New Placer Diggings

Atlin, April 4—Interest in the new discovery still continues unabated. Although nothing definite has as yet been determined as to values, stampedeers are still leaving here daily for the new district. The local merchants are going in full swing outfitting the new arrivals. Freight is moving more rapidly now and there has so far been no shortage of anything required to complete outfits.

The visit of Dr. Young has had the effect of reassuring the public that this will no doubt remain the pivotal point and that from Atlin to the new discovery is the only feasible route to the new district. Dr. Young stated that he has had included in the estimates of expenditures for public works a vote of $50,000, the largest in the history of the camp. A party is now exploring the trail and if the discovery proves as rich as is anticipated, work on its construction will be recommended and pushed to completion without delay. The winter trail is now in excellent condition and several with outfits have made record time in getting to their destination.

Mr. C. H. Murie, representing the Vancouver World, left here a few days ago and will remain in the new district ample time to thoroughly write up the camp for publication through the columns of the publication he represents.

Many of those arriving bound for the new discovery are not by any means strangers to this camp nor to the north country, most all of them having been here during the early years and latterly in other mining camps of Yukon and Alaska.

Altogether there are some 350 claims recorded on Moose Horn, Trout, Johnson and Silver Creeks and their tributaries. Most of the recording is now being done at Nahlin telegraph station, where the B.C. Government has stationed a deputy mining recorder. This station is a day's journey from the new discovery and the appointment has so far given entire satisfaction, obviating the necessity of a long trip to Atlin for recording purposes.

George Redmond whose partner—Sandberg—was frozen to death on the trail has gone in search of the remains.

COMMITTEES NAMED TO RUSTLE EXHIBITS

Graham Islanders Take Up Rupert Fair Project with Enthusiasm.

That the east coast of Graham and Moresby Islands and Skidegate Inlet will be to the front with exhibits at the Prince Rupert exhibition next September was determined at an enthusiastic meeting held in the school room at Skidegate last Saturday night. Good live committees were appointed and judging from the tone of the meeting every effort will be made to have splendid exhibits of the various resources of the islands at the fair.

After an informal talk the meeting got down to business and Mr. J. L. Barge was appointed chairman. Mr. A. Richardson, secretary of the Lawn Hill exhibition, gave an outline of the committees that should be appointed, also stating that his society had appointed him to act on the advisory board of the Prince Rupert exhibition from this district, which he trusted would meet with their approval. Mr. Richardson was adopted unanimously by the meeting to act on the board.

Remarks were made by the chairman, A. J. Gordon, C. P. Johnston, H. W. Fairbairn, N. Fraser, E. N. Valentine and others, and all agreed that the Prince Rupert exhibition would be an excellent opportunity to advertise the islands by sending a first class exhibit of their resources that would make the outside public open their eyes.

The following committees were appointed with powers to add to their number: Mineral—E. M. Sandilands, A. J. Gordon and T. R. Davey. Timber—E. Girard, H. W. Fairbairn and C. P. Johnston. Fisheries—E. N. Valentine. Agricultural—A. Richardson, J. L. Barge, W. J. Leary, Mrs. Hodges and F. Mattock.
