LARGE

POSSIBILITIES INDICATED FOR OPERATION OF

BERTON GOLD MINES

LIMITED, N.P.L.

A LARGE PROPERTY

High grade shipments have been made from Veins 5 and 6, near the centre of the property.

To the North, up the miuntain, other veins are known, the projected extension of which can be reached at depth from present workings.

To the South, down the hill, are several veins, showing high grade possibilities, and to be included in a depth - development program.

To the West are known veins and fractures to be explored, in the light of present geological knowledge.

To the East the showings on the Crater Group of 8 claims have been little more than sampled.

The 21-claim property provides ample scope for a long-range, extensive plan of operations.

IMMEDIATE PROGRAM

Extension of drift on No. 6 Vein in ore.

Drifting on north - south fracture on No. 2 level, 135 feet estimated, to cut downward extension of rich ore in No. 5 Vein.

Continuation of this drift a further 250 feet to cut the downward extension of No. 6 Vein in rich ore at an additional depth of 200 feet.

Extension of No. 3 adit-drift 100 to 200 feet in the high grade ore of No. 3 and No. 4 Veins.

Contractors are now on the ground carrying out this work, as outlined.

100% profit on issued capital might easily be realized on successful completion of this immediate program.

Continued improvement for the last 40 feet of drifting on No. 6 Vein has resulted in a commercial assay of $27.72 per ton in gold over a width of 2 feet, and indicates that the rich ore of No. 6 Vein lies immediately ahead.

SUCCESS in any ONE of the above objectives would place the operation above the need of further financial public support, as the high grade ore from this property can be shipped with or without milling.

From the short-term outlook, or the long-term possibilities, the Company believes this to be an outstanding speculative opportunity.

she actually goes out to give a group of theatre enthusiasts some real direction.

"For variety at your next month's club meeting don't overlook the possibility of showing a film, either educational or pure enterainment. Write to us for a catologue of over 500 subjects. If you are music-lovers ask for the catologue of our record library containing both classical music and variety dance music.

"The community as a whole will benefit by the expanding interest and life of the individuals and groups which compose it.

The extension department is also greatly concerned with developing local communities in all aspects of their social and economic life. We look forward to the day when towns will write freely to the university for help on practical problems like uses for natural resources, suggestions for new industries, or the organization of recreation. Then students would have the chance to apply some of their knowledge in the service of the people.

"Recently some citizens of Port Alberni explained that they were organizing a civic centre but didn't know very much about how it should be operated. We contacted the Department of Social Service immediately and arranged a two-day institute on Community Centres. We expected to get about 30 people to attend. Two hundred turned up and plenty more were unable to get all the way to Vancouver. Perhaps we should put on another institute in another locality. Come to think of it, why not Prince Rupert? Well, that is up to you.

"Which brings me to another point. The extension department is supported by the people of the province. We are located in Vancouver and, although we send enormous amounts of material to all parts, we have to admit that we do a lot more for the folk near our office: evening classes in everything from music appreciation to Spanish and short courses on seed growing, canning, and personnel administration.

"If we had a branch office in Prince Rupert we could offer a much better adult education program to this whole northern area. But we don't like to go any place we haven't been invited! So, if you would like us to open an office here please write to Dr. G. M. Shrum, Director, Extension Department, University of B.C., Vancouver. How about it?

"For a start there would probably be one field worker to survey the situation and receive suggestions from groups and individuals who wished to make use of the services. As requests for classes, institutes, or conferences came in, teachers, instructors and inspiring leaders would be recruited from near and far. A library of books, pamphlets, and films (in co-operation with the National Film Board) would be built up. In short, all possible facilities for adult education would be made available.

"Perhaps we should ask this question: 'Education or what?' Our material progress has long outstripped our knowledge of ourselves and of our society. We know a lot more about the atom than we know about people. We need research to find out how people require to be happy creative beings. After we find that out we need more research to show how this state may be achieved. As well as this, for fundamental learning and sure democratic progress we need education simply to keep up with progress in this modern age. Modern living demands education.
