Reports of the year's activities were read and proved very gratifying.

RARE ALLERGY

reaction" to some protein to which the body is sensitive. In this case, he said, the reaction had been unusually violent.

"Oedema may occur in any part of the body but it is very unusual for it to occur in the lungs and every more unusual for it to result in death," he said. "It was a form of allergy, which in some people may result in hay fever or hives."

Dr. Coleman said that, in the case of the Jackson boy, it had resulted in swelling of the lung tissues which had made it impossible for him to obtain air. In further discussion of allergy for the understanding of the jury, Dr. Coleman said that it was one of the most involved phases of medicine.

He expressed the opinion that had a doctor been present at the time Robert was taken ill the boy could not have been saved.

Mrs. Van Pykstra told the jury that when the boy was brought to her home he was "very weak" but could walk with the help of his sister. Thelma, she said, had placed Robert in her (Mrs. Van Pykstra's) care and had run home to get her parents. In the meantime, Mrs. Van Pykstra had endeavored to make the boy comfortable on the chesterfield, and had 'phoned a doctor and the ambulance.

"I thought he was getting better, because he seemed to answer my questions when I spoke to him, Mrs. Van Pykstra said.

She had been told by Thelma that the two children had drunk a malted milk shake on leaving the theatre.

Mrs. Jackson said that Robert was unconscious when she and her husband arrived, and that he died about five minutes later. She verified a statement made by Mrs. Van Pykstra that she and her husband had believed their son was going to die.

On his arrival a few minutes later, Dr. W. S. Kergin pronounced the boy dead.

The boy's body was identified for the jury by William Beggs, Wartime Housing counsellor. Jurymen were Norman M. Carter, foreman; Stanley Saville, William Jarmson, Clarence Thomson, H. G. Murray and J. Comer.

GEORGE ZBURA IS PRESUMED DEAD

A recent Royal Canadian Air Force casualty list shows for official purposes presumed dead Flying Officer George John Zbura, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Zbura of Prince Rupert. He had been previously reported missing on active service. In the same casualty category is listed Flight Lieut. Barry Desmond Emmet, whose wife, Mrs. B. D. Emmet, resides at Prince George.
