Organizing Right For All Workers Is C.C.F. Promise

By the Canadian Press

12-point Co-operative Commonwealth Federation platform in the New Brunswick election contains pledges on the subjects of natural resources, basic industries, labor and social services. The planks are:

1. Representation of labor, farming and fishing on all provincial government boards.
2. Enforcement of legislation giving employees the right to organize in unions of their own choice; non-recognition of company unions.
3. Protection of small business against discrimination.
4. Co-operation for establishment of the C.C.F. national program for men and women in the armed services; Dominion to be urged to raise dependent parents' allowances to the level of wives' allowances.
5. Public ownership and full development of natural resources, including "electric services, oil and gas fields and other public utilities, together with a vigorous development of the tourist industry."
6. Higher living standards for farmers and fishermen; guaranteed floor prices; assistance in marketing and in establishing co-operative processing and cold storage plants; co-operative farm service stations; province-wide veterinary service; a provincial agricultural college; further encouragement of co-operatives and credit unions.
7. Co-operation in low-rental rural and urban housing and slum clearance.
8. Old age pensions of $50 per month starting at age 60, with a higher ceiling on earnings and without disqualification for home ownership or savings up to $2,000.
9. Free medical, hospital, dental and nursing services for rural and urban citizens.
10. Equal educational opportunity up to the university stage; free text books and supplies until completion of high school courses; government scholarships for higher and technical education; higher salaries for teachers; gradual shifting of education costs from municipalities to province.
11. Elimination of "contact men and national patronage" through the establishment of an "independent" provincial civil service commission.
12. Complete political and religious freedom.

Briefs From Britain

By the Canadian Press

EDINBURGH — Quadruplets, two boys and two girls were born to a Mrs. Griffin here. Two of the children, whose father is in the services, died.

LONDON — Small savings by people of Britain since the war have passed the £3,000,000,000 mark. Large savings are approaching £5,000,000,000.

EWELL, Surrey — Una Donovan, who help her father repair bomb-damaged roofs, is one of Britain's few women slaters and tilers.

EDINBURGH — The ban in entry into three protected areas on the Firth of Forth has been lifted.

LONDON—Five hundred passengers, queuing for a train in a subway at Waterloo station, were "gassed" when someone outside the entrance dropped a cannister of tear gas

STANFORD-LE-HOPE, Essex—Mrs. Sarah Ann Reeve celebrated here 105th birthday by knitting a baby's coat for a charity sale.

LONDON—The Royal Northumberland Fusiliers, known as the Geordies, are fighting in Normandy as a machinegun unit and took part in the thrust on Caen.

ASHFORD, Kent — The local chamber of trade purchased 126 steamers for Victory Day celebrations.

LANGHAM—Royal Air Force officers preached the morning and evening sermons at the parish church in this Norfolk town so the vicar, Rev. H. Jackson, could take charge of the reception of evacuees from London.
