ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.

(By Dorothy Garbutt)

Mrs. Miller is having a taste of just how beautiful our Rupert weather can be when it really tries. What is so rare as a day in June—that is when the sun shines and the waves sparkle and the far mountains look bluer than ever?

I hear that LAC. Melbourne Bussey is being married tomorrow to a Vancouver girl, Miss Elsie Black. Melbourne always pays us a good many visits at the "Y" when he is home on furlough and we wish them both much happiness.

Yesterday Mrs. Miller and I had occasion to go up to the WRCN's Barracks, or the "Wrennery" as it is called. You never saw anything so trim and tidy and ship-shape in your life. In the drying room there were rows and rows of white collars, white blouses, lingerie, all ready to be ironed or pressed. There was the galley where Wrens were cutting up lettuce for salads—everything as spotless as could be, the laundries, the lounges or "foc'sles" I believe is the salty term, and everywhere girls in navy blue. Lieutenant Margaret Jess showed us around the barracks. We got into a discussion about the pronunciation of the word lieutenant. I said I had heard that, at anyrate for sub-lieutenant, one should say "sub-l'tenant." Not, mind you, as broadly as the Americans say "lootenant" but rather sliding the first syllable. Miss Jess said that her brother, also an officer in the navy, had told her the same thing except that the same pronunciation applied to all lieutenants. So if you wan to be strictly in tradition remember to say "sub-"tenant," "l'tenant" or "l'tenant-commander." I hope we're right, or we're apt to get a shot across the bows for mal-information!

Bingo tonight at the "Y" Hut. Come out and see what a full house, a straight line or any of the bingo combinations can do for you. At any rate we hope to have a full house for bingo. As usual Hizzoner Ronnie Mason is the master of ceremonies.

Sing Sing prison gets its name from the Indian words "ossine ossine," meaning stone upon stone.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Between forty and fifty gillnetters are now fishing for spring salmon in the Skeena River and are having good results, according to word received in the city. Trolling boats are also continuing to do quite well. Substantial loads of spring salmon are being brought to the city by the packers, a good deal of it going into the freezers. With the opening of sockeye fishing on June 25, gill net springs will be largely going into the canneries which will start operations at that time.
