AGED MASSETT WOMAN IS DEAD

Mrs. Julia Bennett Succumbs In Sleep to Heart Attack

Mrs. Julia Bennett, elderly native woman from Massett, succumbed to a heart seizure and passed away in bed Wednesday morning in her daughter's room at 1148 Park Avenue. She had arrived in the city with her daughter, Miss Dorcas Bennett, on Monday.

Mrs. Bennett, who was over 70 years old, had suffered from heart trouble for the last 10 years, her daughter told Coroner M. M. Stephens. Miss Bennett said that she had slept with her mother and when she awoke at 3 a.m. her mother was sleeping normally but when she arose at 11 o'clock the elderly woman was dead.

A son, Wilfred Bennett, is expected to arrive from Massett today. The body will be returned to Massett for burial.

REMO GIRL IS PRETTY BRIDE

Miss Elsa Froese and Edward Bowen of Cloverdale United in Marriage

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Prince Rupert was the scene of a pretty wedding service when Miss Elsa Froese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Froese of Remo, was united in marriage to Edward Bowen R.C.E. of Cloverdale.

The bride was very pretty in a white satin gown and veil with matching accessories. She was attended by Miss Doris Sawyer of Amsbury as bridesmaid. Frank Froese, brother of the bride, gave the bride in marriage. Mrs. H. Froese had come from Remo to attend her daughter's wedding.

After the service the bridal couple went to Valhalla Hall to attend a wedding party and dance in their honor. Many members of the groom's regiment were among those present and the couple were presented with some very lovely presents.

The newly-weds went to Remo for their honeymoon and on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. H. Froese gave a party in the Remo schoolhouse in their honor. Everyone in Remo attended and out-of-town guests included the following people from Terrace: Mr. and Mrs. C. Pohle, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman and Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Neilson, the Misses Mary, Grace and Phyllis Little, Dorothy Cole, Cecelia Newhauser, Messrs George Giglebruger, Frank Froese and George Newhauser.

For the present, Mr. and Mrs. Froese will reside in Prince Rupert.
