P.-T. ASS'N HAS MEET

Outstanding Entertainer Wins Ovation—Lack of Sport Facilities Discussed

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association was held last evening at Booth Memorial High School with the president, Rev. E. W. Scott, in the chair. Considerable business was followed by a program of entertainment.

Included in the business was a report by Mr. Scott of a discussion with B. Thorsteinsson, inspector of schools, and J. Gillett, Indian agent, on the establishment of a school at Port Edward for native children. The president reported that the chief difficulty appeared to be the lack of a suitable building.

It was decided that other city organizations would be invited to join with the P.T.A. in the petitioning of the city for a very much needed sidewalk on Sixth Ave. E from Hays Creek.

Following the business session the meeting had the privilege of listening to an entertainer of outstanding musical ability. AC. 1 Robert Fleming, R.C.A.F., a graduate of the Royal College of Musicians, London, England, held the audience spellbound with his impersonation of grand opera. The singing roles of tenor, base and sonrano were taken by the artist who composed the music for the "opera" as he went along. That childhood song, "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," came in for some high and fancy interpolations as AC. 1 Fleming rendered as the great musicians would have from the sonorous tones of Bach to the expressive jive of the modern day. His final selection was "Annie Laurie," played as might a small boy pianist who was not sure of one note. The entertainer was given sustained applause and was cordially thanked by the vice-president, Mrs. Clarence Insulander.

Speaks on Lack Of Sport Facilities

The tragic lack of facilities for organized sport among the youth of the city and a practical plan for overcoming immediately at least one side of the picture was presented to the meeting last night by Bruce Stevens.

This scheme which the speaker said could be done at once and at a surprisingly low cost, involved the addition of 20 feet to the present gymnasium at the rear of Booth Memorial High School. To give sufficient ceiling height beams could be removed and if necessary Belgian trusses installed. Ventilation and lighting improvements were necessary. For spectator space the speaker suggested that the wall boards be removed on the two sides of the building and lean-tos be built onto the sides. Inside the lean-tos would be placed the bleachers.

In leading up to his plan Mr. Stevens told of the situation as it existed now. For example, he quoted the high school boys basketball team which had been obliged to enter a league out of their class in order to play any games at all this year. They had faced grown men, older taller, heavier and more experienced. The annual series with Ocean Falls in which the Northern B.C. High School Championship was at stake threatened to go to the southern community by default unless a hall in town was available should Ocean Falls come north.

At the conclusion the meeting went into lively discussion of the matter and the speaker was requested to go with the playgrounds committee before the school board and outline the plan to them.

Following the meeting refreshments were served in the Home Economic room by Mrs. M. Braun and her daughters, Lottie and Toni.

QUIZ CONTEST IS COMING UP

The Prince Rupert Gyro Club at yesterday's weekly luncheon, accepted a challenge announced on behalf of the Kinsmen's Club for a quiz contest to be broadcast from the stage of the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday night of next week as a feature in connection with local observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Famous Players - Canadian Corporation which operates the Capitol Theatre here. The teams will consist of two men and two women each. The quiz will have to do with moving picture history. Arrangements as far as the Gyro Club is concerned were left in the hands of George Rorie, inter-club activities committee chairman.

The club referred to the playground committee a request from the Boilermakers' Club that it co-operate with the Rotary and Kinsmen's Clubs in taking over the operation of the Boilermakers' Athletic Club activities at Seal Cove School.

The program at the luncheon yesterday consisted of the showing of a moving picture of wartime China projected by Ed. Selyan of Y.M.C.A. war services by arrangement of W. D. Lamble and Don Forward. Dr. J. J. Gibson, club president, was in the chair and guests were F. H. Gow of Vancouver, W. H. Wilson-Murray of Prince Rupert and David Allen, recently arrived Gyro from Trail.

C. G. Ham won in two drawings—that of the 1944 attendance cup in which there had been a tie between several members and the weekly war savings certificate drawing.

The program committee assigned members as follows to provide club programs:

January 24—Max Asemissen.

MRS. CALDER PASSES AWAY

GREENVILLE, Jan. 18— Mrs. Hanna Calder, an outstanding church worker and president of the Greenville Women's Auxiliary passed away recently after an illness that kept her confined to bed since last June. She was 67 years old.

Predeceased by her husband, Mrs. Calder is survived by five sons, Simon, George, Anthony Raymond and Peter; and four daughters, Mrs. Fred McKay, Mrs. George Martin, Mrs. Dorothy Arzack, and Mrs. Stephen Clayton. There are many grandchildren.

Funeral services took place in the Greenville Church with Rev. W. S. Cooper officiating. The Greenville Concert Band took part in the service and the Pacific Coast Militia Rangers in full uniform led the procession to the cemetery. Almost every member of the community was in attendance.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary sang "Home at Last" in the native tongue and at the graveside the congregation joined in singing "Lord, Now Lettest Thy Servant Depart in Peace."
