DETROIT MAY SELL WAKEFIELD

DETROIT (AP)—Dick Wakefield, who cost the Detroit Tigers $52,000 in bonus money in 1941 and his hitting an insignificant .074 for them in 1948, may be on the trading block.

The Detroit Free Press said today that the Tigers have asked waivers on the 27-year-old outfielder, but the Tigers branded as "preposterous" any idea that Dick may be sold for the $10,000 waiver price.

BLUES TIE HOOP PLAY-OFFS 2-2

MONTREAL's Y.M.H.A. Blues came bouncing from the benches Thursday night to square the Dominion basketball best-of-five series 2-2 by shading the Vancouver Clover Leafs 48-46 in a photo-finish game that the 2,000 fans present will long remember.

THEATRE GROUP SEEKS "ANGEL"

Venture Folds After 128 Shows But Director and Cast Keep Rehearsing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sydney Risk's Everyman Theatre, aimed at bringing a thoroughly Canadian production to every large centre west of Winnipeg, has folded after the first season, but the young Vancouver director still has high hopes that an "angel" will appear to keep the enterprise going.

In the meantime rehearsals continue in a converted army hut here when actors and actresses are not busy on their workaday jobs.

In 1932 Risk decided that Canadian theatre culture spotlighted a few "name" imports while young Canadian talent watched from the galleries. He began working on an all-Canadian cast. But it was not until last year that the venture got under way. In its 13-month career the group staged 128 productions in four western provinces.

Out of the leading actresses was 20-year-old Lillian Carlson who performed brilliantly as Cecily in Oscar Wilde's "The Importance to Being Earnest," and Riana in "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw.

When the theatre answered its last curtain call, Lillian became a stenographer, but she still devotes her spare time to rehearsals with the group.

In converted army huts members of the group live in a co-operative basis, dividing daily chores. "The boys keep the home fires burning," said Lillian, "while we girls form the nucleus of a highly efficient pots and pans brigade." Not all cooking is done by the girls. "One of our best cooks is a boy specializing in Hungarian goulash."

Bruce County Expatriates Plan Mass Visit To Former Homes

The westward trend of a generation of Ontario "Scotchmen"—properly diluted, of course, with strains of English and Irish blood—will be reversed this summer when several score of British Columbia and prairie residents make a pilgrimage back to a fabled place called Bruce County.

Among them likely will be a contingent of Prince Rupert people bent on joining their spiritual brothers and sisters in a centennial reunion in what was once a backwoods community hacked from the hardwood forest along Lake Huron.

For "Bruce Countyism" among the generation who have wandered from the place of their birth, is now almost a religion and their congregations are known as "Bruce County Old Boys and Girls Associations."

Meccas of this nostalgic cult are such towns as Port Elgin, Tara, Walkerton, Kincardine, Southampton, Paisley, Ripley, Wiarton and Hepworth, names reminiscent of Old Country towns and cities from which their fathers and grandfathers emigrated in the mid-nineteenth century.

You find the largest of these "Old Boys and Girls Associations" in Vancouver, from which a trainload of descendants of the Queen's Bush pioneers will set out on July 6, gathering forces along the way until literally hundreds disembark at Walkerton on July 20.

In Prince Rupert, Collector of Customs Jarvis H. McLeod, a Southampton man, whose father, Capt. John McLeod, plied Lake Huron, is hoping to drum up a substantial contingent so that a coachload may represent the district between Prince Rupert and Prince George.

Ex-Mayor Jack Patterson, of Prince George has been asked by Dan Alton, president of the Vancouver branch of the Bruce County Old Boys and Girls Association to do likewise.

To the "Bruce County Special" as it rolls over the C.N.R. line will be added sleeping cars at Kamloops, possibly Jasper, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg and the lakehead ports.

The Vancouver branch expects at least 120 to start from that city, but has no idea of how many will join the bandwagon on its eastward trek.

"The more the merrier," says Mr. Alton, and Mr. McLeod echoes the words.

Once in the hallowed borders of Bruce County, the official celebration will begin at Walkerton on July 20 and continue until August 6 in a score of towns.

"Great plans and preparations are being made for the reception, accomodation and entertainment of the guests." Mr. Alton has written Mr. McLeod. "It is just about the biggest undertaking of its kind ever undertaken by any County in the history of Canada."

So a generation of wanderers, most of them grey-thatched and many of them portly, are dredging up memories of their youth in anticipation of revisiting the scenes in which they happened.

Bruce County, Ahoy!

BUTTON SHOES SEEN NEW STYLE FOR FALL WEAR

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK —Don't be surprised, ladies, if you find yourself wearing high buttoned shoes next fall.

Right now you may scoff at the idea, but Mabel and Charles Julianelli predict high shoes, and the chances are you'll be wearing them.

This quiet, hard - working young couple have become virtual dictators of America's feminine shoe styles during the seven yeras of their partnership. Each season they design "trend" shoes for a number of the counrty's largest shoe manufacturers. They estimate that 50,000 pairs of shoes a day are made from their designs.

For next fall and wint[er] Julianellis already have [illegible] number of models, guar[illegible] to startle the public and [illegible] the halcyon days of [illegible] Lady Book. Says Mrs. J[illegible]elli:

"The shoe mode for ne[illegible]son is going to run to t[illegible]tremes—high, boot types [illegible]tremely open styles, ea[illegible]inged for a particular [illegible] costume. Both will be [illegible] style."

The high shoes will be [illegible] for both street and dress [illegible]noon occasions, says Mr[illegible]lanelli. The street versi[illegible] be spat types, with suede [illegible] and patent leather bottom[illegible] dressier types will be of [illegible] or suede, either buttoned [illegible] side or laced up the back.

Of course there will s[illegible] plenty of ordinary bread-[illegible] butter styles for those wh[illegible] their shoes conservative.
