Road Was Good As He Passed

Reporting the highway in good condition considering the time of the year, better in fact than it was last spring because holes have been filled with snow which is now packed down, J. C. Georgeson, who recently arrived in the city to join the sales department of Bob Parker Ltd., is back after delivering a small truck to Houston. Leaving last Thursday morning, he made the drive to Houston in two days, stopping at Hazelton overnight. He returned on Saturday night's train.

There was no loose snow in the lower Skeena Valley when he passed, Mr. Georgeson reports, the ploughs having just been over to clear it after a closure of a week or so.

Blackwood On Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

If you don't know your partner, be sure to make only bids that your partner will understand. Some bids are ambiguous. Bridge players have not reached unanimous agreement as to what they mean. Some of these bids are:

An opening bid of three in a suit.

An opening bid of four in a suit.

An opening bid of one no trump.

Avoid these bids when playing with a new partner. Use only bids which are accepted universally as having only one meaning. Such bids are:

Pass.

An opening bid of one in a suit.

An opening bid of two in a suit.

North-South vulnerable.

North dealer.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
4 S	Pass	6 S	Pass
Pass	Dbl.	Redbl.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Mr. Champion got stung on today's hand. To him an opening bid of four spades, vulnerable, means a solid trump suit with the top honors, and eight sure winners. Mr. Champion had only one quick loser outside of the trump suit and he had four quick winners. Adding these to North's assumed eight winners made 12 tricks in all.

So Mr. Champion bid the small slam. He didn't even bother to bid four no trump to check up on the aces. Had he done so he would have saved something out of the wreck. And his redouble was sheer stubbornness. He was going to make North have what he considered a sound four spade vulnerable opening.

East opened his ace of diamonds and then just sat back and waited for his ace-queen of trumps and the penalty of a cool 1000 points.

North was quick to tell Mr. Champion that one of the great authorities of bridge advocates opening four spades on just such a hand as his. But Mr. C. is contemptuous of all authorities except himself, and he was fit to be tied.

Yes, Mr. Champion was foolishly stubborn, but North is the real culprit. Why did he use a bid which might cause confusion? If he had passed to start with, he would almost certainly have ended up in a profitable four-spade contract.

H. F. Robins, manager of Nelson Brothers at Port Edward, returned yesterday by plane from Vancouver. While away, Mr. Robins made a holiday trip to California and Honolulu. Mrs. Robins and daughter, Shirley, are returning to the city on the Prince George tomorrow.

Reginald Mawer, previously attached to the United Nations Society at Ottawa and now identified with the extension department of the University of British Columbia, is arriving in the city tomorrow from Vancouver and will speak before the Women's Canadian Club. His subject will be: "Does the West Dominate the United Nations?"
