MAN BURNED AS BOAT EXPLODES

A gas boat explosion caused a Port Simpson man to be sent to hospital with burns on his face and hands and damaged a small gillnetter at the Cow Bay floats at 11:2 0a.m. Sunday.

City fire department, which answered the call, found the interior of the boat M.S. ablaze and Walter Morris, the operator suffering burns as he emerged from the vessel. Firemen used fog nozzles to quickly reduce the fire and called the city ambulance to take Morris to hospital for treatment.

Cause of the fire was an explosion of a stove in the forecastle of the vessel. It quickly became a mass of flames as leaking gasoline spread through the bilge.

Violence of the explosion wrenched planking in the hull so that the boat began to take water. However, it was kept afloat by owners of nearby boats who manned pumps.

SOCIAL CREDIT SPORTS MAN—Despite a leg injury suffered in his childhood, John Horne Blackmore became 145-pound boxing champion at the University of Alberta in 1913. A school teacher in Cardston, Alta., he joined the Social Credit party in 1934 and has represented Lethbridge in the Commons since 1935. A massive-chested man with a passion for sports, Mr. Blackmore says he's afraid to listen to hockey or baseball games for fear that he'd never finish the voluminous reading schedule he imposed on himself. Mr. Blackmore was born March 27, 1890 at Suplett, Idaho, and is the father of 12 children, two of whom died in military service during the Second World War. (CP Photo)
