KINSMEN GET SPRING FEVER, WANT FOOTBALL

The spring sunshine and the sight of boys booting balls around the sandlots has created an urge among members of the Kinsmen executive to re-enact some pages from their school day pasts. If suitable arrangements can be made they plan to gather enough sturdy legmen from the club to form a football team and challenge one of the other city service clubs to an exhibition match in Roosevelt Park on May 23.

A quick survey of the talent available in the club indicated there would be sufficient men to carry the strain with enough left over to act as substitutes should any of the regulars develop "charley horses" or collapse from lack of breath.

Stan Saville, chairman of May 24 ticket campaign, reported to the executive that, with a good turn-out of members, three more nights would complete the canvass of the city. Ticket sales have been good, he said, and, with the continued support of the public, the club should realize enough to finance the required improvements on the Kinsmen's Kiddie Kamp at Lakelse Lake.

R. E. Montador was selected as chairman of May 24 parade committee, replacing Pierre Le Ross who felt he has not the experience or time necessary to make the job a success. William Bremner, chairman of the sports committee, reported that jumping competitions will be dropped from the program this year and that novelty races will be featured.

SOCIAL CREDIT BOARD IS OUT

OTTAWA—Pulp wood means steady wages all winter in the Ottawa region and industry during the summer. Canada's vast forests both east and west do not jingle. They are colored green instead of gold, yet go far indeed in the maintenance of prosperity.

Enormous stacks of logs are piled along the banks of streams and inlets in the wide bush areas. It is estimated that they total 550,000 cords and now thousands of river drivers will be occupied in the strenuous and risky job of river driving. And from the wilderness, the logs go to the mills, and so, through the various stages and thousands of hands, as modern science helps create activity on a national scale—but all springing from a common source.
