THREE GAME LEAD—Toronto Maple Leafs held a three-game lead in the Stanley Cup play-offs after defeating Detroit Red Wings in Toronto Wednesday night 3-1. The Leafs went on to win again Saturday night and take the cup. This photo shows the third Leaf goal Wednesday night scored by Gus Mortson—a long shot that hit Red Wing Goalie Harry Lumley's stick and slipped between his pads into the net. Klukay is the Leaf wearing No. 8. Three Detroit players shown are McNab, Kelley (4), and Pavelich (19). (CP Photo)

The Stanley Cup winner for this season has been decided with the Toronto Maple Leafs picking up the mug for the third straight year. Having won the first of three games from Detroit Red Wings, Connie Smythe's men finished it off Saturday night and became the first club in modern hockey history to win the cup three straight times. Ralph (Toronto Star) Allen now looks a bit further ahead and ponders who is going to stop them from winning six in a row?"

The stocky redhead surveyed the five other teams in the National Hockey League and then decided that, "Barring a sudden onset of pestilence or plague within their own ranks or a wave of miracle healing in the more or less debilitated ranks of all five of their opponents, the Leafs are in line to produce the team to beat for at least the next three seasons. Between now and then every club in the N.H.L. will do a substantial amount of rebuilding. But the Leafs' current advantage over the rest of the league in youth, manpower and plain physical energy, will tend to lengthen rather than to diminish."

Looking at the other clubs, Allen says the Chicago Black Hawks represent the saddest example of what the rest of the league will be up against in its efforts to catch up with Toronto. "Both Conacher and Bentley (the league's two top scorers this season) will be 33 years old next winter. They certainly don't figure to improve and,
