Personalities Of Early Days

IONEL CRIPPEN

ionel Crippen, who landed prior to 1909 and left in , was short, black-eyed, effi- t and quite alive to all that going on.

rince Rupert, that long ago, little better than a railway struction camp but full of on most of the time. His nds called him 'Crip" and ut everybody did the same. loved a joke and was not ve perpetrating a few him-nce, when there was some off rumor about bombs, a ster-looking object was seen inst the wall of the city hall, around the corner from the ce station. It was regarded h caution. No one felt like ng unnecessary chances. It ehow suggested a home- de explosive and was placed bucket of water for a thor- h soaking. Then it was ex- ned. About 500 feet of old e and string became gradu- unwound, then a quantity sacking, and finally—the e of it—a small orange.

he outrage was never brought ne to anyone but Crip was n the credit. There were no ials.

rippen was interested for a le in the fishing industry. He one of those who early saw possibilities of popularizing boneless herring. In a comparatively small way, with others, a plant was started on Digby Island. It was "Crip" by the way, who took a leading part in getting the late John Houston's press released from the railway warehouse at Prince Rupert, and which was taken out after "Crip's" loud "Open in the name of the King," had gone unheeded.

Stirring times in Skeena, just then! A few more years rolled along and in 1914 brought war 'Crip" was among the first to volunteer. He found his place of rest on the Western Front. One can picture him yet—waving a hand from the steamer, and calling to the crowd: "Goodbye, you blighters."

MILLER BAY SCHOOL IS CLOSING

Program, Prize-Giving and Special Supper

With members of the medical and nursing staff and other visitors moving from ward to ward to hear a closing program, children in the Miller Bay Hospital concluded their studies for the semester on Friday afternoon. Varied talents were proudly exercized and were listened to with much interest by Dr. J. D. Galbraith, the medical superintendent; Dr. Michael Ormiston, his assistant; Mrs. E. M. Davis, the lady superintendent; Miss Mary Morton, Miss M. F. Platt and Miss Clare McGrath, the head nurses, and others.

All the children wore gay caps of red, white and blue and those too young for the school classes were wheeled in to join the party in the various wards. The program consisted largely of recitations by the children of their own selection from their memory work including items from E. Pauline Johnson, Robert Louis Stevenson, etc. Albert Stevens sang "God Save The King"; Rose Russell sang two solos, accompanying hersel on the guitar and Robert Johnson, John Charlie and Larry Pierre played guitar trios.

The children offered their contributions to the program from their beds and their disabilities were triumphantly ignored in the excitement of prize-giving. The youngest prize-winner was Alfred Davidson who, with one arm in a cast, had struggled earnestly with his studies to receive a suitable reward. John Charlie and Margaret Joseph, from Burns Lake, also made notable progress during the year although never having been in school before.

After prize-giving the children themselves had gifts of knitted needle cases to give to Mrs. Davis, Miss Morton, Miss Corris, Miss Platt, Miss McGrath, Miss Taylor, Miss Golliner, Miss Drummand and Mrs. McIntosh.

To close the proceedings a special supper, high - lighting pink ice cream and individual baskets of candy, was served.

The girl prize-winners were Margaret Joseph, Rosalie Joe, Juliet Lawley, Sally Moore, Rosie Prince, Lena Moise, Florence Moise, Helen Green, Margaret White, Dorreen MacKay, Anne Poole, Jessie Thom, Frances Toma, Mary Bailey, Rose Russell, Rebecca Stewart, Josephine Russell, Brenda Harris, Evelyn Charlie, Edna McKay, Betsy Peter and Leonie Louie.

The boys who received prizes were John Charlie, Harold Bolton, Leonard Alexcee, Robert Johnson, Alfred Davidson, Michael Adams, Sam Alexander, Philip Stewart, Stephen Dominick, William Dominick, Arthur Derrick, Henry Joseph, Albert Stevenson, Raymond Green, Robert Norris, Norman Green, Edgar Davis and Solomon Robertson.

Mrs. C. T. Partington Passes Away In Montreal

A woman who lived here for several years during pioneer days and became well known and esteemed by many friends passed away not long ago in Montreal in the person o Mrs. Charles T. Partington. She was the widow of the late Major C. T. Partington who was in the retail liquor business here before World War I and who was killed in action in France during that conflict. They lived on Seventh Avenue East, having built a home there. After the war of 1914-18 Mrs. Partington was for some time engaged in instruction work among disabled veterans in military hospitals. She had been in ailing health for some years.

Mrs. Partington is survived by one child, a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Moore of Seattle. Mrs. C. W. Peck, wife of Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., is a niece.

ACHIEVEMENT

Borden Street Junior Red Cross Has Enviable Record

Many of the visitors to the Borden Street School tea and sale on Friday were greatly impressed by a summary on a blackboard giving the details of the school's achievements through Junior Red Cross activities in the past five years. The fact that pupils had collected 86,280½ coupons in five years was almost incredible.

During the years when War Savings Stamps were available the pupils collected tea and coffee coupons. These were sent to the wholesale firms who refunded the value of the coupons in war savings stamps. This money was then turned over to the Junior Red Cross. With the stopping of the War Savings Stamps the children continued the collection of coupons and then had the firms return the value of the coupons in premiums. These premiums were then sold at periodic sales and the proceeds earmarked for Junior Red Cross services.

A summary indicates the tremendous job the children have done year by year:

February 1934 to June 1944—16,515 coupons, value $275.25 stamps.

September 1944 to June 1945—16,500 coupons, value $275.00 stamps.

September 1945 to June 1946, 16,817 coupons, value $284.75 stamps.

September 1946 to June 1947, 16,200 coupons, value $100.00 stamps and $147.32 sales.

September 1947 to June 1948—20,248 coupons, value $356.79 sales.

Cash donations to Flood Relief Fund, $22.00.

Totals, 86,280½ coupons, $1,461.11.

ASSIST RELIEF

Borden Street Pupils Raise $125 Through Varied Activities

Borden Street School Junior Red Cross, with the assistance of their Parent-Teachers Association, held a very successful tea and sale at the school on Friday afternoon and, as a result, the local Flood Relief Fund will be increased by $125.

In addition to the tea and sale of home-cooking there were articles of kitchenware, potted plants and bulbs. Leather goods made by Grade Four were also on sale.

During the afternoon the Borden Street School Choir excelled themselves in their program, singing "I Love the Merry, Merry Sunshine," "Golden Slumbers," "This Canada of Ours," "Cornish May Song," "The Little Dustman" and "Alouette." Olive Strand was a capable accompanist.

The sale was under the supervision of Mrs. S. A. Cheeseman, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Flood, Mrs. J. Lunn, Mrs. C. Strand, Mrs. H. A. Amos, Mrs. W. J. Lineham, Mrs. D Parent, and Mrs. W. McLeod assisted by Grade Six pupils with president William Blackaby, and treasurer Eddie Olsen, looking after the finances.

Included in the total sum was the amount donated by the children voluntarily towards the local Relief Fund. This amounted to $22 and speaks well for the generous response of the pupils. The grades staged a competition among themselves to see which could donate the most, and Grade One with $4.89, Grade Four with $4.20 and Grade Six with $4.05 were the leaders.
