New Moderator Elected for Presbyterians

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. John Angus MacInnis, minister of Orillia Presbyterian Church, has been elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada on the second ballet. He succeeds Rev. Norman Kennedy of Regina.

Two others were nominated for the moderatorship. They were Dr. A. Gordon Macpherson of Riverdale Church, Toronto, and Dr. Robert Good of Erskine Church, Ottawa.

Dr. MacInnis, 66, has been active in church work for many years. He was a member of the budget committee for 11 years and of the Board of Missions for 12 years. In 1940 he was Moderator of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston.

The retiring moderator told the church's 78th general assembly that until the elders of the church reassumed the spiritual functions which belonged to it "we are not true Presbyterians and our Presbyteries, which are the basis of our system, are so much weaker."

Dr. Kennedy said Presbyterians are governed by presbyteries or elders and the teaching elder or minister had magnified his office at the expense of the ruling elder or member of the session.

No one would wish a change in the position of the minister, he said, but he questioned whether the ruling elder should be relegated to an inactive or even honorary status.

He urged all Presbyterians to study their Bibles and to realize again "the great resources of prayer." He said the "vanishing prayer meeting in the church and the disappearing family altar are indicatice of a lost art."

Dr. Kennedy said that in practice great portions of the Bible had been consigned to oblivion by the limitation of preaching to certain familiar texts.

"We need less application of psychology and more study of the word," he said.

He described missions as "the custodians of democracy and freedom." It is through them, he said, that those who do not know the ideals are to be instructed in them.

"If missions fail then men will become easily a prey to materialistic Communism. The strategic importance of Formosa as a bastion of freedom is a tribute to the faith of our fathers who first sought to evangelize the island."

Sacraments have fallen into confusion in the popular view, he said. Baptism now is often a mere domestic and social event quite unrelated to any particular congregation and thus the discipline involved was ignored.

Dr. MacInnis, the new moderator, is a native of Mira, N.S. In 1915 he enlisted in the Canadian Army Medical Corps and served in France for three years. He obtained his theology degree at Queen's University in 1921.

He was appointed to the British Columbia coast district and later became an assistant minister in Edmonton. He was awarded a travelling scholarship to Union Seminary, New York, where he received a Bachelor of Divinity degree in 1923. He then accepted a call to New Liskeard, Ont., and six years later moved to Orillia. He will have completed 24 years service in Orillia next January.

Co-operative Bidding Scores Once Again

Mr. Dale used the Rule of 26 in the bidding of this hand, trying to figure his partner's hand and his own as a single unit, rather than blindly bidding his own 13 cards.

He sensed that his partner was weak in either spades or diamonds and held an unbalanced hand. Mr. Masters had failed to bid two no trump after Mr. Dale's spade and diamond bids.

In addition, he had rebid hearts rather than rebidding the club suit, suggesting a heart holding of pretty fair solidity. After hearing the three heart bid, Mr. Dale decided not to make the almost automatic three no-trump call. Instead, he put the hand in four hearts, holding only the four and deuce of that suit.

This co-operative holding paid off as three no-trump is beatable with a diamond opening, but four hearts can be made against any lead. It took careful play. Mr. Masters had to take precautions against being forced in his trump suit by continued diamond leads.

He won the opening of the king of diamonds with dummy's ace. Now, he figured he could afford to lose two trump tricks over all, but that he could not afford the luxury of a trump finesse at this point. If it lost he knew he would be pumped again in diamonds and then pumped again when the enemy got in with their sure club winner.

Beginning at trick two, then, he cashed the ace and king of hearts, then led the ace, the king and a third club. Mr. Meek won the third club and fired back a diamond.

Mr. Masters ruffed and led a good club. Mr. Meek ruffed with the nine of hearts and continued diamonds. But Mr. Masters' foresight had paid off.

Paper Prints On Cane Waste

NEW YORK (AP)—The Journal of Commerce printed a sheet of its regular press run on newsprint made from bagasse—the waste of sugar cane.

The New York business daily ran the bagasse paper sheet through 2,000 copies of its Friday edition.

The paper was made under a pre-hydrolysis process invented by Joaquin de la Roza, Cuban-born engineer.

De la Roza was pleased with the results of the run, the second in three weeks. The first under full-scale press conditions in any quantity was on the presses of the Savannah Morning News on May 19.

E. D. Manning, mechanical superintendent of the Journal of Commerce, commented "This is good paper." He said it is "stronger than (standard wood pulp) newsprint."

The readability is good, Manning said, and it makes a bright page that stands out.

An independent New York engineering firm estimated bagasse paper can be made under the De la Roza process at a cost of $65.92 a ton, based on production in a mill of 215 tons daily capacity.

The current price of wood pulp newsprint to the consumer is $126 a ton, New York basis.

Historic Occasion

CROYDON, England (CP)—Dr. Schlange Schoeningen, expected to become first German ambassador to Britain since the war, was present for the raising of the German flag outside the International Language Club here. He said: "I hope it will fly as a symbol of lasting peace, friendship and understanding between Britain and Germany."
