Cross-Ruff Makes Contract for Mr. Champion When He Lacks Enough High Card Tricks

"What did you do on this one?" asked Mr. Dale as he discussed deal from the match between his team and a team from the Uptown Club.

"I gave it a very fine play," said Mr. Champion modestly, "and made four hearts."

The opening lead was the eight of spades and Mr. Champion won in his own hand with the ace. He saw there were not enough high card tricks for the contract and properly decided to set up a cross-ruff. He could afford to lose a trump trick as long as he was able to ruff all three of his losing diamonds on the board.

His decision to win the first trick in his own hand was good, because if Mr. South had opened a singleton spade, a subsequent spade lead from Mr. North would enable his partner to ruff off Mr. Champion's ace.

CROSS-RUFFED

At trick two Mr. Champion led his lone club. This trick was won on his right and a heart was returned. Mr. Champion went right up with the ace. Next he led a spade and won with the king. Then he cross-ruffed clubs and diamonds, losing a heart and a spade at the end, but making his bid.

"I could have tried for five-odd by taking the heart finesse at trick three," Mr. Champion explained, "but that would have jeopardized my contract. In other words, if South had won with the king of hearts and returned a heart, I could have ruffed only two of my diamonds. Then I would have lost a trick in each suit for down one.

'VERY COMMENDABLE'

"I didn't think Mr. East and Mr. West would reach the heart game against you and Muzzy. I considered it a good aggressive contract and I wasn't worried about extra tricks — I just didn't want to take any chance of getting beat."

"Very commendable," remarked Mr. Dale. "They did reach the heart game against us — but they didn't make it. Mr. East played it and he had the same general plan in mind that you had. However, Muzzy's opening lead gave him a false sense of security."

See Mr. Muzzy's defence of this hand in tomorrow's column.
