Exchange of Surpluses Urged to Improve Trade

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

HALIFAX (CP)—Better standards of living for the world's masses should increase international trade in the coming years, Mitchell Sharp associate deputy minister of trade and commerce, said today.

Improved standards could not be achieved, he said in an address to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, unless surpluses were exchanged among nations on a greater scale.

Mr. Sharpe's remarks were included in a prepared speech issued to the press before delivery.

The one great uncertainty in the trading world was the course of United States trading policy and the possibility the United States would restrict imports of Canadian goods. The one great defect was the structure of foreign tariffs, particularly of the United States which favored raw materials but imposed a scale of duties rising with the degree of manufacture.

Previous trends in the world had been to reduce tariff barriers but, because of dollar shortages, to frustrate the result through quantitative restrictions.

TRENDS REVERSING

Recently trends had been reversing themselves. Discriminatory quantitative restrictions were being dismantled, and the tendency was to restore tariffs as the main instrument of trade policy.

Psychological Point

OTTAWA (CP)— St. Vincent's Hospital for the Chronically Ill has shortened its name to St. Vincent's Hospital. Officials explained that nowadays many so-called chronics and incurables are able to return to their homes after hospital treatment and lead normal lives, thanks to advances in medical research.
