BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

If You're Like Mr. Meek Don't Let Your Face Tell

. . . Mr. Meek is the type of player who worries constantly. It shows on his face.

He expects the worst to happen and it often does—possibly because he tips off alert opponents as to where his weakness lies.

In today's hand, for example, Mr. Masters, playing the players as well as the cards, was able to hit on exactly the right defense to defeat the three no trump contract.

It came about like this. Mr. Abel led the five of diamonds and Mr. Meek won with the king. He laid down the queen of spades and let it ride. Mr. Masters took the king and paused to consider his return.

LOOKS PLEASED

In the first place, Mr. Meek had won the first trick without hesitation. He had not looked worried. In fact, he had looked quite pleased. It was a good bet he had the ace of diamonds, too, and to return that suit seemed hopeless.

Mr. Masters went back to the bidding. He recalled that Mr. Meek had been reluctant to go on to three no trump after his partner had raised to two.

Why? He seemed to be well fixed in diamonds, he had already shown an honor in spades and he had bid clubs. Could it be that he had nothing in the heart suit?

If Mr. Abel had the queen of hearts and an entry, Mr. Masters figured the contract could be defeated. Therefore, at trick three he led the deuce of hearts, Mr. Abel played the queen and dummy's king won.

NO NEWS

Here Mr. Meek counted his tricks and found he was sure of three spades, one heart, three diamonds and the ace of clubs—eight in all.

So he took a finesse in clubs and Mr. Abel won with the king and returned a heart through dummy's jack up to Mr. Masters' ace-10. Three heart tricks, a spade and a club put the contract down one.

"I wanted to stop at two no trump," wailed Mr. Meek. "I was afraid of that heart suit."

"This is news? thought Mr. Masters.

CCF Launches Drive to Top Province

VANCOUVER (CP)— A streamlined, long-term plan aimed at putting a CCF government in power in British Columbia in 1957 was announced here Saturday by party officials.

A CCF spokesman at party head-quarters here said the plan was drafted late last month by the CCF provincial executive and unanimously adopted at a recent provincial council meeting.

The plan calls for expenditure of $250,000 to finance the 30-month campaign.

The spokesman said the plan calls for a step-up in party organization throughout the province at "poll level" to provide a nucleus of responsible members in every poll in each riding who will carry on the year-round jobs of strengthening party membership.

The spokesman said members will be asked to pledge $1. a month for 30 months in order to raise $30,000 for 1955, $57,000 for 1956 and $163,000 for 1957.

MUNICH, Germany (AP)— The American-financed Crusade for Freedom today said its first attempt to float millions of anti-Communist leaflets into Hungary will be made tonight.

The leaflets are to be sent by balloons equipped with control devices to concentrate them on Hungary.

The messages will urge the Hungarians to work for freedom of speech, private ownership of land, free trade unions and freedom of religion.
