orothy Kergin To Meet ueen at Garden Party

f former Prince Rupert woman will be presented een Elizabeth at a Buckingham Palace garden July 14.

some 35 Canadian es to be presented to the Miss Dorothy Kergin of stminster, daughter of W. Kergin and the late in of this city.

oyal garden party has e timetable for a royal ting.

With the Queen's presence at Buckingham Palace garden party being essential, the program of events for the Royal Ascot meeting previously moved from June into July because of the railway strike, had to be revamped.

Now the Ascot Gold Cup will be run July 13 instead of July 14, enabling the Queen to be present at the royal garden party.

Miss Kergin, accompanied by her mother will leave June 22 from Vancouver on the luxury liner Orsona and travel via the Panama Canal to England in time for the garden party.

On her return she will continue her nursing career at Kitimat.

Born in Prince Rupert, Miss Kergin is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and for the past few years has been a public health nurse at Princeton

Meeting Hears Proposal On New Hall

A large crowd heard a proposal last night for a new parish hall for Annunciation church when the Annunciation Home and School Association held its last meeting of the term in the school hall.

More class rooms are needed in the over-crowded lower grade rooms, Father O. P. Mohan parish priest, told the meeting.

Tentative plans are being made to use the school hall, Knight's of Columbus hall, for added class rooms. The KC hall is presently being used as a parish hall.

Players of the Annunciation basketball team and their coach, John Dumas were presented with jackets and school crests in the school colors, donated by the Home and School Association.

Sister Enid's Grade 2 and 3 pupils in costumes entertained the meeting with square dancing numbers which won them the highest mark awarded at the recent District Musical Festival.

Following the business meeting, chaired by president, Archie Bowen, refreshments were served by Mrs. Dan Delaney and and Mrs. J. R. Cormier.

Children Enjoy Preview Of Comedy "See How They Run"

More than 200 children from the four city elementary schools last night enjoyed themselves at a dress rehearsal of the three-act comedy "See How They Run" presented by the Prince Rupert Little Theatre Association.

Director John Robertson, expressed himself as "quite pleased" with the rehearsal and added that the standard of acting was extremely high.

The rehearsal before a juvenile audience was an experiment Mr. Robertson said, and despite the noise and enthusiasm of the boisterous audience, many of the laugh lines came through and the youngsters showed signs of appreciating the play's humorous situations as well as the obvious clowning.

Tonight will see the first night performance for an adult audience and the cast is confident of the show's success. The play is to run tonight, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday nights, with Friday night designated as "Terrace Night."

The benefit show is being staged to help the Terrace Little Theatre association recoup some of its losses, incurred when the Terrace Civic Centre was destroyed along with a great deal of Terrace Little Theatre's equipment.

Featured in "See How They Run" are Pat Bolton and Joy Reid as the vicar and his wife; Shirley Hill as a diffident spinster; Marilyn Dean as the vicarage maid; Ken McIntyre as an American actor in the armed services; Len Harrington as a bishop; Will Hankinson as a visiting clergyman; Dave Yule as a military sergeant and Bob Irvine as a spy.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.
