Job's Daughters Seek Banner For Trip South

Prince Rupert's internationally known Job's Daughters' drill team today appealed to citizens for help.

The girls will travel to Kelowna early next month to participate in the Kelowna Regatta, and since they want everyone to know where they're from, they need a large banner carrying the city's name.

The girls have searched the stores, but the only banners available are too small. They want some sort of large standard, preferably the type which hangs from a cross pole, to carry in parades.

Anyone knowing of such a banner is asked to contact Alex Mitchell.

Doll-Like Girl Wastes Beauty As Jungle Hunter

LONDON (CP)—Youthful Michaela Denis, as fragile and attractive as a fashion model, holds down a man-sized job as a big game hunter and photographer.

Her good looks go to waste. Instead of lounging in luxury hotels, Mrs. Denis spends 11 months of the year at her job in the jungle.

"It's no life for a girl who wants to look elegant," laughed the red-haired Mrs. Denis in an interview here. "We sleep in tents or trucks. Last year I wore a skirt only 12 times in 12 months."

But it's worth it because she loves jungle animals.

"I've two rather nice pythons at the bottom of my garden. I like snakes—but I never underestimate animals or forget they're wild and attack if frightened."

Mrs. Denis does her jungle safaris with her Belgian-born husband, Armand. They were in London for the premier of their latest animal-life movie, "Below the Sahara."

The couple rent an apartment in New York and own farms in Florida, Cuba and Kenya. The Kenya farm harbors the two "rather nice" pythons.

Popular Tom Yule Honored By Staff at Farewell Fete

The staff of Wallace's store here honored fellow-employee Mr. Tom Yule at a farewell party Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Becquet, Sunrise Apartments.

Mr. Yule is leaving soon to make his home at Vancouver, where he will be joined by his wife, now visiting Scotland.

The guest of honor, who has been employed at the store for the past five years, was presented with three long-play records of Scottish songs by Douglas Wood on behalf of the staff to highlight the social evening.

Guests at the affair included Mrs. W. Crawford, Mrs. M. Stewart, Mrs. A. F. Davidson, Mrs. W. Bowes, Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. F. Berry, Mrs. A. Becquet, Mrs. M. Rodseth, Mrs. A. Crum, Mrs. M. Haines, Mrs. J. McLeod, Mrs. R. Smith Mrs. J. Macgregor, Mrs. W. Webster, Mrs. A. Turcotte, Miss A. Kristenson, Mr. Wood and N. Skaimerud.

City Oldtimer Pays Visit Here

Paying a brief visit to Prince Rupert today was city oldtimer Fred Riffou, who now resides at North Burnaby.

Mr. Riffou first came to Prince Rupert 43 years ago. A carpenter, he was employed on construction of Grand Trunk Railway buildings, the Skeena Crossing bridge, and railway bridge connecting Kaien Island and the mainland.

Stopping off here in the course of a coast cruise, Mr. Riffou finds many changes in the city since he left here eight years ago and since the early days.

St. Peter's Vestry Committee Welcomes New Minister, Bride

The Rev. Thomas Sharpe, new incumbent of St. Peter's Anglican Church at Seal Cove, and his bride, were welcomed by the church vestry committee at a meeting in the rectory Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe arrived here June 30 since then he has resumed his ministry. He served the parish last summer, as a student.

The nine members present discussed fund-raising projects for the parish, including the regular dances staged by the Anglican Young People's Association of Seal Cove, and a thanksgiving dinner to be held in September, convened by the WA branches and other church groups.

Tuesday afternoon saw the minister and his wife entertain in the rectory at an "open house" for friends.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, including wedding cake, and tea and coffee were poured and served by Mrs. Frank Hicks.

BACK IN RUPERT

Mrs. M. P. McCaffery, 445 Fourth Avenue West, returned home aboard the Prince Rupert yesterday from a five-week holiday trip which took her to Seattle to visit her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Thompson.

"You'll notice in my pictures I never went after a man or took a man from another woman," said the celebrated star Mae West, just recently, at Hollywood. "I always treated other women with respect. That was all part of my plan to keep the women in the audience happy." Her age is around 60; she looks 20 years younger and is still plump and curvesome.
