Trials Bring New Marks

Six Records Fall At Swimming Meet

TORONTO (CP)—The prospects for Canada's women swimmers, who haven't won an Olympic final since 1932, continued to look optimistic today as the Olympic trials went into their final day.

Brightest star in the swimmers' constellation is Sara Barber, a 15-year-old from Brantford, Ont., who not only has been making a hash of her opposition in the junior women's sprint events, but has also bettered some of the best times of the senior ladies.

Sara broke two Canadian records for 50-yard pools Tuesday as the trials, held in conjunction with the national championships, opened. She continued her whirlwind pace Wednesday.

SIX RECORDS BROKEN

She was timed in 1:07.4 in the junior 100-yard backstroke, lowering by a second the mark she set in a heat earlier, and surpassing by 3.2 seconds a mark set Tuesday in the senior event by Lenora Fisher of Ocean Falls, B.C.

In the junior 100-yard freestyle she turned in a heat time of 59.7, a junior record comparing favorably with senior 58.6 record set by Toronto's Ginny Grant Tuesday.

All the record-breaking wasn't done by Sara, however, as six other Canadian marks fell Wednesday.

Vancouver swimmers set three of the individual marks, continuing the solid showings they have made throughout the trials.

B.C. RELAY TEAM WINS

Gerry McNamee lowered his own previous mark of 2:16.5 for the 220-yard freestyle with a time of 2:14.7. Dave Gayton did the junior 220-yard breaststroke in 2:53.8, knocking 20.5 seconds off the former standard, while Bill Slater turned in 2:25 in the junior 200-yard individual medley, bettering the previous record by 1.5 seconds.

Easterners set records in the junior men's 100-yard freestyle and the senior men's 400-yard freestyle relay. Cameron Grout of Montreal turned the trick in the 100-yard event with 55.1, the former standard being 56.9. Relay winners were a team from Etobicoke Memorial A.C. in Toronto with 3:48.3, nine-tenths of a second better than the previous mark.

The last record of the evening, finals went back to the West as a pick-up British Columbia women's team won the senior 400-yard medley relay in 4:48.9, far under the former mark of 5:21.3.

Union, Atlin Game Re-Play Set as Decision Reversed

The Prince Rupert senior men's Softball commission last night reversed a former decision in connection with a disputed game between Atlin and Local 708 and ruled that the game be re-played.

Earlier, the commission had awarded the game by default to the union team, moving Local 708 to within half a game of league-leading Savoy. New ruling came about at a meeting of the Association and was agreed to by the commission and team managers.

Three games remain in the league. Playing dates were, by unanimous choice, picked by draw. The rest of league play will see Canfisco meet Savoy Thursday, Local 708 play Atlin Friday and Atlin go against Army and Navy Saturday.

The meeting agreed that all teams were bound to play games as scheduled or a forfeiture ruling would be invoked.

Semi-finals this year will be best-of-three and finals best-of-five affairs. For the semis, the top four teams will qualify for the playoffs, with the league leader playing the fourth-place team, and the runner-up playing against the third-spot finisher.

All team managers were urged by the executive to attend Saturday night's game in case any playoff positions are tied.
