Blackwater-Clifford Vows Heard at Hazelton

(Special to The Daily News)

HAZELTON — Saturday evening, May 19, was the date of the wedding of Thelma Martha Clifford of Hazelton when she became the bride of David Blackwater, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Blackwater of Kispiox. Rev. A. L. Sergent performed the ceremony in St. Peter's church.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Charles Clifford, the bride chose a floor length gown of white taffeta with net over skirt, with a low neck line, long lily point sleeves and lace insets in the front of the skirt.

For the double ring ceremony she carried a white Bible centred with American Beauty roses and long embroidered streamers tipped with rose buds. Her veil was shoulder length, fell from a coronet which was circled with pearls and sequins. Besides a strand of pearls the bride's only adornment was a gold bracelet which had belonged to her grandmother.

Mrs. Dolores Mercer of Prince Rupert was matron of honor and wore a frock of turquoise net over taffeta. It was a semi-formal as were the frocks worn by the five bridesmaids, Mrs. Adams of Prince Rupert, Mrs. Tommy Danes, May Patsy, Charlotte Blackwater and Sadie Wale. Their dresses were a variety of colors and they all carried nosegays of carnations. Shades of the frocks included flamingo, blue, mauve and turquoise. They wore net headdresses. The little flower girl, Sharon Anne Smith wore a pink floor length gown and bonnet and carried a white basket of rose buds.

Billy Blackwater, brother of the groom was best man and ushers were, Walter Harris, Mickey Smith, Don Lum and Billy Gates. Miss Ruth Bennett was organist and during the signing of the register, Miss Edith Pancratz rendered a solo.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Smith. Mrs. Smith wore a dress of blue silk print with a red carnation corsage to receive the guests. Assisting her was Jessie Lum who chose a two-piece frock of black silk with pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Earl Simpson presided at the urns and serving were Mrs. Jeff Wilson, Mrs. H. Compton, Mrs. R. Martin and Anne Gould. The toast to the bride was proposed by Bill Sargent.

Later in the evening a dance was enjoyed in the Kitimax Hall where the wedding cake was cut.

The young couple are honeymooning in Prince Rupert before taking up residence in Hazelton.

In The Centre

The big week which all staff members have had something to do with in some way, has finally arrived. The final rehearsals for the 1956 "Sweethearts on Parade," are being held today and tomorrow. The lighting is all ready to operate, thanks to the help of Jim Cumming and Bob Hill of Little Theatre, and the stage has received its final finish in readiness for the children's matinee Thursday.

During the past few weeks volunteer helpers, moved the portable stage from the dance studio, erected it in the gym and secured it for the review. And of course the volunteer help from the mothers in preparing costumes, making alterations and seeing that their children arrive to rehearsals has been of great help.

Without the help of the volunteers this show would have been a very costly production and would have presented great difficulties.

To the volunteers dance director Buddy Taft gives his thanks.

The show packed with "Zeigfield Follies girls," figures out of the Arabian Nights, hula dancers and ballerinas.

The Teen-age members of the Civic Centre held a meeting Saturday, and accomplished a great deal. It is rather wonderful, to see this group of young people carry out their affairs with zest and intelligence. They are well on their way to establishing a sturdy foundation for the teen group of next season.

Plans were made for dances and trips and also three members were chosen to accompany sponsor Rod Falconer on a tour of local service clubs, to speak to adults about the purpose and aims of their group.

I'm sure they will be well received, and through them the group will be accepted as a hard working, responsible group of Teens.

Don't forget—Rifle Club presentation, Tuesday, May 29; Sweethearts on Parade, May 31, June 1 and 2; Soroptimist Rummage Sale, Sat., June 2; Bingo June 6; Civic Centre General Meeting, Thurs., June 7; Kinsmen Films Fri., June 8.

Listen to the radio program, Community Cavalcade Tuesday evening at 10:30 p.m. when Shirley Hill interviews Buddy Taft.

See you at the Centre.

Moose, Women of Moose Honor Departed Members

An impressive memorial service was staged for departed members and co-workers of the Loyal Order of the Moose, No. 1051 and the Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 211 yesterday afternoon when members of the two local orders gathered in the Moose Temple.

Governor George Robertson presided with the assistance of former Deputy Grand Regent Mrs. John Kasper.

Past Governor W. S. Holgate in his address said that he was pleased to note that the lodge always remembered the "good rather than the bad" of all the departed members.

Assisting soloists were Mrs. Hazel Gamblin who sang "Beyond the Sunset" and "Bless this House," and Mrs. Holder sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "The Old Rugged Cross."

A quartette composed of Mrs. Gamblin, Mrs. Harry Hanson, Mrs. Holder and Mrs. Thomas Glenn sang "Lead Kindly Light" and Mrs. J. R. Carr rendered a piano selection "In the Sweet By and By."

Secretary Howard Walker and recorder Mrs. Cherrill McIntyre called the roll while guide Mrs. Harry Hanson placed red carnations on the altar for the departed members.

Prelate Joseph Skaggard led the group in prayer to conclude the service.

WHEN IT COMES to shower curtains, special types need special care — check the label for class of material. If your curtains are duck (light canvas) wash with hot soapy water. Dry in the sun if possible, iron with a hot iron. Waterproof silk curtains should be placed on a smooth, flat surface and sponged with a mild soap or detergent. Rinse and hang back on bar to dry. Rubber curtains should be washed in thick suds of mild soap. Do not rub or squeeze, rather work about gently in water. Rinse in cold water. Rubberized fabric curtains should be washed as rubber ones. Plastic and plastic-coated curtains should be spread flat on a smooth surface and sponged with a damp cloth. Mild suds may be used if necessary. Rinse with clear, warm water, and rehang to dry. Do not attempt to press. Water-resistant cotton, rayon or silk curtains can be washed in mild, lukewarm suds, rinsed and pressed with a warm iron while damp.

WINDOW SCREENS should be brushed with a hand brush, then cleaned on both sides with kerosene and a small paint brush. Wipe with clean cloth to remove surplus. Screens of galvanized iron wire should be painted, using screen enamel thinned to avoid clogging the mesh.

YOU CAN'T BEAT the experts in any line of work—and, when it comes to the cosmetic industry, why should we not take the beauty secrets from the women who spend their lives trying to help us with our individual problems?

DON'T YOU HATE TO WASTE end bits of soap? Here is one of the nicest and most unusual ways of utilizing toilet soap scraps. Grind your accumulation of soap scraps with the food chopper. Tie a paper bag over the end to catch the flying bits.

To each two cups of ground toilet soap add four cups fine rolled oats and one cup powdered borax and mix well, using the hands. When well mixed add two tablespoons fragrant sachet powder and mix again.

Stitch up little bags of bright scraps of flannelette about two inches square and stuff tightly with the soap mixture. These make interesting little gifts too.

HAVE YOU EVER wondered why some women have a clear, mat-like finish to their make-up? The answer is that they remember to apply a clear, colourlesss foundation before the tinted make-up base. This protects the skin, provides a smooth surface for the make-up.

Eastern Star Tea, Sale Successful

Arrangements of mixed spring flowers created a delightful setting in the Masonic Temple, Thursday afternoon when the Eastern Star staged its annual spring tea and sale of home-cooking.

Receiving the guests was Worthy Matron Mrs. A. J. Dominato while Mrs. William Wasyk was general convener for the affair.

A centrepiece of gladiola, carnations and irises, designed by Mrs. Alex Mitchell, graced the pouring table. Tapering candles completed the table setting.

Presiding at the tea cups were Mrs. W. D. Vance, Mrs. Frank Dibb, Mrs. Robert Gordon and Mrs. L. C. Eby.

Tea room hostess was Mrs. A. P. Crawley assisted by Mrs. H. F. Robins, Mrs E. J. Smith, Mrs. Stewart Donaldson and Mrs. D. J. Parent.

Serving were Mrs. Jack Mussalem, Mrs. James Macgregor, Mrs. J. M. Forbes, Mrs. H. Stephen King and Mrs. Lloyd Stephens. Cashier was Mrs. T. H. Wilford.

Mrs. D. V. Kristmanson was in charge of home-cooking assisted by Mrs. John Frew and Mrs. Nicholas Krook.

Raffles of grocery hamper, cake and ham was handled by Mrs. T. J. Boulter and Mrs. Mitchell.
