B.C. Grants To Aid Groups

VICTORIA (?)—British Columbia centennial celebrations in 1958 will be encouraged by the provincial government, which plans to distribute grants up to a total of $1,250,000.

The grants are intended to aid local groups to stage celebrations and to pay for community projects.

First grant, 40 cents per capita, will be given to aid in staging celebrations, going to each municipality which has formed a local centennial committee.

The second, up to a maximum of 60 cents per capita, will be for a "centennial project, preferably one of lasting value and significance to the community."

This will be granted on condition that the local group also raise funds which will be matched 50-50 by the province up to the 60-cents per capita maximum.

Argentina is the world's principal source of tannin, used in leather industries, medicine and manufacture of inks.

Flood Picture

Water surged down the main street of the village of Procter, 290 miles east of here in the Nelson district, when a culvert on Procter creek became plugged Saturday night. CPR tracks flooded and an eastbound train was delayed three hours.

CPR roadmaster John Dvorak set one dynamite blast at the jammed culvert and when it failed to explode he crawled into the culvert to set another charge that freed the backed up water.

On the brighter side of the picture, the level of the Fraser river at Mission dropped three inches during the weekend and appeared to be levelling off at 18.75 feet. Lack of driftwood coming downstream, was taken to indicate that the river had reached a temporary peak or was dropping back.

WELL BELOW TOP

Optimistic dike officials said that the sharp rise in the river last week still sent the level only to a point nine feet below dike tops.

Ken Neale, secretary of the Mission diking district, said an early spring is responsible for the fact that the river level is six to seven feet above the level of the same time last year.

He predicted the Fraser would stay at a level of at least 18 feet through June.

Approaches at the Mission ferry that had been affected by high water have been raised and strengthened and the ferry has gone back to 24-hour operation.

City officials at Trail kept a close watch on the Columbia river and were prepared for sandbagging or pumping of low-level sewers if necessary.

TWO-FEET DROP

At Revelstoke the Columbia dropped more than two feet during the weekend, although there was a possibility warm weather could send it up again.

A drop of 12 inches from Friday to Sunday was recorded on the Similkameen river at Princeton. Village commissioners feel that the flood danger is over if there is no heavy rain.

The worst forest fire the province has had this year, on the Sechelt peninsula about 50 miles north of Vancouver, was reported "reasonably under control" Sunday by district forester D. B. Taylor.

NOTTINGHAM, England (?) — The forestry commission reported today that Sherwood Forest, where Robin Hood once played cops and robbers with the sheriff of Nottingham, is under attack by tree-killing insects. The insects, a kind of weevil, have destroyed or damaged 40,000 trees.
