BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. New Less Than Brilliant When Taking Part In Game

In the days of whist, grand-daddy of contract bridge, there was no bidding to hear and no dummy to see. Playing practically blind (compared to today's game), players latched onto a lot of maxims such as "second hand low," "third hand high" and "always cover an honor with an honor."

Following these rules was not always the winning play. It was just more likely to be right than not. There were many exceptions.

In contract bridge you hear the bidding and see the dummy. With these advantages there is little excuse for failing to keep your defensive game at top strength by learning to recognize the exceptions when they occur.

NOT ALWAYS TRUE

Of all the old whist maxims, the one that is still most often true is "cover an honor with an honor." Yet there are many cases where following that advice is exactly the wrong thing to do.

In this and following columns I want to show you some hands where the right play is to cover, and some other hands where you should refuse to cover.

In today's deal Mr. New, the avid kibitzer, was making one of his infrequent appearances in the game. On the sidelines, Mr. New is brilliant. In the game, to put it as simply and charitably as possible, he is not brilliant.

He led the seven of clubs against Mr. Dale's three no trump contract. Mrs. Keen played the king and it was permitted to win. Mr. Dale won the club return and counted up his winners. He found that he had only eight—even if the diamond suit broke favorably.

South's dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 NT	All Pass

The best chance appeared to be to finesse against the king of spades. He laid down the queen of that suit.

NO REASON

With the ace and jack showing on the board, Mr. New saw no reason to "sacrifice" his king, so he did not cover. Delighted, Mr. Dale now switched to diamonds. He got a rude shock when Mr. New showed out on the second lead.

There was nothing for it now but to hope the spades were divided 3-3 and that Mrs. Keen was not cagily holding back the king.

As you see, a second spade finesse and the play of the ace cleared the suit and Mr. Dale made four no trump. Covering the queen of spades would have defeated the contract.

Mr. New should have figured that if Mr. Dale had the ten of spades in addition to the queen the king was a goner anyway. But if Mrs. Keen had the important ten, he had to cover the queen with the king to help his partner's ten to the status of a potential winner.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. 54
