"I Do's" May Be Shaky At Rainier, Kelly Rites

By EDDY GILMORE

MONTE CARLO (AP)—The man who will marry Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly doesn't expect them to "become speechless" during the religious ceremony, but he thinks the "onis" probably will be a bit shaky.

"If one or both of them don't get a little nervous, I'll be surprised," said Msgr. Gilles Barthe, Roman Catholic bishop of Monaco.

The 50-year-old churchman said he has married a lot of people, and many of them have trouble handling the part of the ceremony where each says "oui" —"I do" in French. The voices of some fail, while others come out with a whavering high squeak.

"[illegible] who they are [illegible] said Msgr. Barthe, "many of them have trouble."

Rainier and the American movie star will be married in a civil service in the throne room of the prince's palace April 18, and then in an elaborate religious ceremony the following day in Monaco Cathedral.

The bishop gave this time-table for the April 19 service (Monaco's clocks are nine hours ahead of Pacific Standard Time):

8:15 a.m. to 10—Placing of guests.

10:00—Arrival of representatives of Pope Pius.

10:17 to 10:35— Arrival of Miss Kelly and families of the bride and groom.

10:35—Arrival of Rainier.

10:40 to 10:50—Bishop's announcement.

10:50 to 11:00 — Announcement by Miss Kelly's parish priest.

11:00 to 11:10—Exchange of vows and bishop's pronouncement of nuptial benediction.

11:10 to 11:45—Mass.

11:45—Exit from cathedral.

12:30—Luncheon to palace.

Miss Kelly arrived here this morning aboard the liner Constitution and transferred with her family to Rainier's yacht in the harbor. Reports of fabulous wedding gifts continue to pour in.

$15,000 BRACELET

An informed source said the multi-millionaire Greek ship owner, Aristotle Onasis, who is chief stockholder in the Monte Carlo Casino, is giving Miss Kelly a $15,000 diamond-and-ruby bracelet. The people of Monaco are said to be buying a five-piece diamond and ruby set costing between $100,000 and $150,000. It includes a necklace, bracelet, ring, earrings and clip.

Rainier Tuesday signed a contract for the filming of the civil marriage service with the Columbia Broadcasting System and [illegible] the contract stipulates that the occasion must be kept dignified.

Cameras will not be permitted in the throne room during the actual ceremony, but will record before-and-after activities. A [illegible] contract will be re-enacted for the lensmen.

Other television agencies have not yet signed the contract.

Rainier still has not decided whether he will permit reporters to witness the throne-room ceremonies.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH EDWARD SHORT

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Ralph E. Short, Irene Quast

The First United church was the setting for the quiet evening wedding ceremony, April 6, which united in marriage Irene Edna Quast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Quast, 1213 Eleventh Avenue East and Ralph Edward Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Short of Kitimat and recently of this city.

Rev. L. G. Sieber officiated for the double-ring marriage.

For the occasion the bride was outfitted in a pale blue dressmaker suit, topped by a tiny white straw flowered hat, white accessoaries and a pink corsage completed her ensemble.

As the bride's only attendant, Miss Anita Charlebois chose a winter-white suit off-set with pink accessories and a mauve corsage.

Allan Rochon assisted the groom as best man.

At the reception in the Commodore cafe, Murdo McKenzie proposed the toast to the bride.

Receiving the guests the bride's mother wore a navy and pink silk gown, a tiny pink straw hat, navy accessories and a pink corsage. The groom's mother chose a pale blue suit with black accessories and a pink corsage to complete her outfit.

Here for the affair were the groom's parents and his brother Billy.

The bridal couple have taken up residence in the Angus Apartments.

no wonder Kraft's Parkay is the margarine most people spread most!

Why do you suppose that Parkay is the margarine most people spread most? Matchless quality, matchless flavor, to be sure. But isn't that what you'd expect from a product bearing the famous name of Kraft? Even more than this, Parkay spreads smoothly even when ice-cold . . . won't rip or tear fresh bread. Keeps form when warm, too . . . won't wilt or go "runny" even on hot summer days or in a warm kitchen. Too, Parkay's price is mighty easy on your purse. So why not find out for yourself just why Parkay is the margarine most people spread most?
