Lunch Saves Tottering Marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — A lunch helped save a marriage.

Mrs. Adelaide Kohlenberg came to Supreme Court Monday seeking a separation and $600 a month maintenance from her husband, Fred Kohlenberg, Bridgeport, Conn., car dealer. When Kohlenberg testified he still loved his wife, Justice Felix Benvenga sensed the ice had begun to melt. He called a recess and suggested the two go out to lunch.

When they returned, Mrs. Kohlenberg's lawyer told the court "the parties have composed their differences and wish to resume living together."

Fog Blankets Lower B.C. For Fifth Day

VANCOUVER (AP)—Dense fog blanketed the lower mainland of British Columbia for the fifth straight day Monday.

The fog bank stretched from the east coast of Vancouver Island, eastward across the Strait of Georgia and up the Fraser River valley to a distance of 40 miles, and as far as Seattle.

Residents got an unexpected glimpse of the city lights Monday evening as the fog lifted for a few hours. Weather officials were at a loss as to what made the fog blanket lift temporarily to 300 feet for the first time in four days. It settled down to 100 feet for the first time in four days. It settled down to 100 feet by 8 p.m. and the city was expected to be closed in again during the night.

Motorists enjoyed the temporary relief but airlines were not helped. Instead, the Abbotsford airport, open so far, was closed in until late evening.

Council's Policy

many buildings in the city which were just as big eyesores.

Mr. Gustafson said there were "plenty" in a disreputable state.

"The city hall is a good example," interjected Ald. Bellis.

Ald. Smith said that since there was a chance of TB contraction in the place "we should not take the chance of letting the building go so people can reenter it—which they will do."

"It's been proven we can't do anything with it," said Ald. Ritchie. "Why give the owner so many days. Tear it down," he urged.

Ald. S. J. Dominato suggested that since it might be hard on the proprietor to find a suitable place if the building were ordered demolished right away, it would be better to padlock the other suites in the block and give the owner 60 days to repair the building.

"If there are no signs of repair, then tear it down," he said.

Ald. P. J. Lester told the mayor that by adopting a policy of procrastination "you are creating a slum area."

The house was a fire hazard and a breeding place for vermin, he said.

"The demolition will be delayed and delayed until there is another housing shortage and other people would move in."

"We should adopt the recommendations of the building and health inspectors who are two reputable men."

Ald. Bellis said the owner was not going to waste his money fixing up the place. He said if council went at the demolition business too vigorously "we're going to have a lot of people on the streets—unless there was some scheme to house them."

Mr. Scott said it was his and the building inspector's policy to get them to clean up the buildings if possible.

Mayor Hills said that accommodation for people in condemned houses could be arranged if council was willing to agree to subsidize new homes.

"It is council that should be condemned for letting people live in these conditions," stated Ald. Bellis.

A motion by Ald. Youngs that the owner be given 60 days to fix up the building was defeated 5 to 3.

A further motion by Ald. Kay Smith that the building be demolished within 60 days was passed 6 to 2 with Aldermen Bellis and Youngs dissenting.

Lost Pair Saved By Tug Skipper

VANCOUVER (CP)— Two Vancouver hunters, marooned since last Saturday when their small cabin cruiser burned to the water line, were rescued early today from the mainland northwest of Anvil Island, about 50 miles northwest of here.

Ted Beatty, 31, and Norman Kirby, 31, were found asleep in a small tent on the rocky shoreline after a tugboat skipper spotted their signal fire.

The men were rescued by the tug Kirsten A. under Capt. Larry Gisbourne of Vancouver.

Capt. Gisbourne, in a radio report back to the RCAF search centre here, said:

"Their boat was just a shell." The signal fire was sighted by Captain Don Berven of the tug Randy. He was unable to leave the barge he was towing and notified Point Grey radio station which relayed the message to the Kirsten A.
