U.S. Staging 'A-Bomb' Attack

TOKYO (Reuters)—American heavy cruisers and carrier based aircraft today bombarded the tiny uninhabited island of Maku Jima, near Iwo Jima, with shells and an "atom bomb" as American forces started their first big Pacific exercise since the Korean war.

As the "atom bomb" exploded, two waves of marines moved towards nearby Nakodo Jima in a rehearsal run to test timing and communications for the "invasion" on Friday of Iwo Jima, one of the most famous battlegrounds of the Pacific war.

A NURSE FEEDS three-month-old George Di Bartolo, victim of congenital heart disease who is fighting for his life beneath an oxygen tent in hospital at Hamilton, Ont. So far no successful treatment has been developed for such a condition. Doctors say that a failure of the heart to develop properly in the embryonic stage left it with only one ventricle chamber instead of two. (CP Photo)

Serious Parley Included As Trappers Whoop it Up

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—And so on into the night did the northerners whoop it up. There was hardly room to lift an elbow at the mad trappers' rendezvous.

Moccasin and dancing pumps, satins and buckskin, 50-cent cigars and makings, Cree and white, the trappers and the tradesmen mingled at the ninth annual trappers' festival.

But today there was some serious business at hand. Ernie Jebb, a young local trapper, was out to increase his 13-minute lead in the second lap of the 150-mile Canadian open championship dog race.

Twenty Indian chiefs and councillors, representing the 10,000 Indians of northern Manitoba, were to discuss their future with Jack Pickersgill, the federal government's minister of Indian affairs.

FAVORITE WAY BEHIND

A queen was to be crowned and a moose to be barbecued.

Fifteen other mushers will attempt to catch up to Jebb on the 59-mile lap running over the marsh west of this town, 500 miles north of Winnipeg. Charlie Wilson of The Pas was 13 minutes behind Jebb's clocked time of four hours, 20 minutes and five seconds. August Merasity of Brochet, with a lap time of 4:40.30, was third and Laird Ouellette of The Pas, 1950 derby winner, was fourth with 4:41.10.

Far behind in eighth place was the favorite, Steve Pranteau, 43-year-old fisherman of Grand Rapids, Man. Pranteau, four-time winner, mushed his dogs 150 miles from his camp on Lake Winnipeg to make his fifth bid for the championship but was 32 minutes behind Jebb.

It was ideal race weather—clear skies, light winds and a temperature of zero.

The chiefs were to meet Mr. Pickersgill in the community hall on The Pas Indians' reservation.

Each chief was to present a brief to the minister outlining the problems of individual bands. Collectively they plan to ask the government to keep the white man out of their territory. They fear the commercial ways of the whites are destroying their traditional hunting and fishing grounds.

Four young northern beauties are trying for the title of fur queen of the north: Helen Proseyshyn, 22-year-old Lynn Lake stenographer, Sarah Neepin, 18, a Gillam waitress, Gretta Whitmore, 16, a Flin Flon clinic worker, and Annette Chartier, 19, a stenographer from The Pas.

Mr. Pickersgill has been invited to crown the winner.

A CAMPAIGN has begun in Toronto to raise $5,000 for a delicate heart operation for seven-year-old Faye Carnegie. Faye has a hole in the wall between the two chambers of her heart. If left untreated the ailment could cause the child's death. The fund was started at the firm where Faye's father, Jim Carnegie, 27, works as a shipper.
