Inhalator Can Be Called Without Order

Regulations calling for a doctor or the police to authorize dispatching of the Prince Rupert Ambulance do not hold in cases where the services of the inhalator are required, a spokesman for the ambulance service said today

Inhalator calls require the utmost speed and no authority will be required, he said

The city council brought in a new ruling February 28 which made it necessary to have either a doctor or the police authorize trips by the ambulance. The move was made to prevent the ambulance being used as a "free taxi."
