BEAT RUSSIANS — The University of British Columbia rowing crew registered the major upset of the Royal Henley Regatta by defeating the highly-touted crew from Russia in the semi-finals. The Canadians (foreground) finished a length and a quarter ahead of the Russian crew, defending champions. The UBC eight lost to the University of Pennsylvania heavyweight varsity crew in the final for the grand challenge cup. (CP from AP)

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)— If you thought Preacher Roe's belated confession that he bootlegged the spitball when he pitched for Brooklyn was a shocker, just wait until another National Magazine presents, as it promises to do in its next issue, the lowdown on what happened to Beau Jack's ring earnings.

This is a matter that has intrigued the sports world ever since the shoe shine boy came up from Augusta, Ga., in the early '40s to win the world lightweight championship and fight a score of big ones before packed houses in Madison Square Garden. His earnings had to be enormous.

Whereas everyone closely connected with the National League, including the umpires, knew that Roe was using the forbidden spitter in his closing years, we have never heard anyone profess to know exactly where Beau's money went.

What has been known is that the Georgia Negro boy wasn't that kind of spender, himself, and that he tried to make a comeback last year, presumably because he could use some money. Any details beyond that will make hot reading in ring circles.

A man who has watched every game of the Giants' collapse and sought the reason for same says Willie Mays is a long way from being entirely to blame.

"You wouldn't find it in the box scores, but a couple of little things have helped lose game after game," he said.

"One of them is that shortstop Alvin Dark slowed up a half step going to his right during the winter. He never was too good at it, but I've seen 30 balls hit past him that he would have got last season.

"And all Dusty Rhodes has seen this season is curve balls. The pitchers would try to slip a fast one by him now and then last year and he would knock it a mile. Now they all know he can't hit a curve with a bull fiddle and they just serve him three of them, any speed."

Forest Probe To Take Recess

VICTORIA (AP)—Chief Justice Gordon Sloan has called a summer recess of his royal commission on forestry.

The commission has risen "until further notice." However, it is expected the chief justice will resume hearings about the last week in August.

The commission completed a swing through the interior last week.

McMECHEN, W. Va. (AP) — A runaway motorboat buzzed through a group of swimmers Wednesday killing Robert Howerd, 12, with its whirling propeller blades. The steering gear of the craft apparently jammed.

KNITTED SWIM SUIT — Knitted of fine zephyr wool and elastic this swim suit has the tailored look added with a sharp row of buttons down one side. There is an inner bra for extra fit. (CP Photo)

DESIGNED BY LADY LUCK — The latest fashion fad among showgirls at one Las Vegas resort spot is this striking "7-11 Beach Coat." Dancer Diana Marlowe is a "sure thing" to please in the felt garment, made from the cover of a gaming table.

EXPAND LOOKOUTS

EDMONTON (AP)—Seven radio-equipped forestry lookout towers will be built in Alberta this year, bringing the province's total to 49. The forest protection branch of the department of lands and forests watches over about 142,000 square miles of forest.

Hogan Gets Orders Galore Since Fleck Won U. S. Open

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)— The Ben Hogan golf club factory has, in the words of the general manager, been "snowed under" with orders since the U.S. Open at San Francisco.

The reason is obvious—Jack Fleck, of Davenport, Iowa, who beat Hogan for the championship June 10 in a great upset, was using clubs made by Hogan.

"Finishing one-two in the Open, you can't beat that," said Charlie Newman, the general manager.

"Since then we've been snowed under with requests. I don't know what we're going to do with all of them."

By September of last year the assembly line was putting out 600 sets of clubs a month.

Then Hogan shut down. He was dissatisfied with the product. He now has, in his own words, about $150,000 worth of "rejects" stockpiled. To the ordinary golfer's eye, these would be beauties. So Ben, after much debate, has decided to ship them as "second-line" Hogan clubs.

The plant now is putting out about 400 sets of clubs a month.
