Arabian Infamy in Egypt.

One of the most thrilling films ever put on at the Westholme is called "Arabian Infamy" and is a chapter of the British occupancy of Egypt that conveys many lessons. The British resident has a confab with the sheiks. and the resident's wife and little ! girl are introduced. The leading sheik makes love to the young wife and ,being repulsed, kidnaps the child in revenge. Then there is the wild ride over the desert in pursuit, the hiding of the little girl in a lonely shack, how the mother is guided there by her dog and then three hungry desert lions attack the building. It is is a wonderfully
